CLASS OF '34

We've dreamed our dreams of future hopes,
Of future glory, future fame.
Now like a sightless man who gropes,
To Future each one trusts his name.

We're leaving now these long-loved halls,
These rooms that hold our joyful past
Each listens to a voice that calls—
Each dreads the die that must be cast.

Each hears the voice of grandsire gray—
"You're spending now your happiest years—
Near finished now your days of play".
Not one has words to voice his fears.

Not one bewildered, knows them quite,
But listens as his elders warn—
A world to face—a constant fight—
A country must needs be reborn.

Our fathers sigh—they too love life—
They've lived it through and so can we!
We're ready, glad, to stand the strife
Ahead's the door, we'll find the key!

—Ardelle Coleman

SENIOR REVIEW

WE, the class of '34, have aimed to live up to the ideals, physical, mental, and moral, handed down to us by former classes. Our three years spent here have been ones filled with the accomplishment of many worthwhile activities, and will remain long with us as happy memories.

In our sophomore year, we began to become interested and to participate in the school's activities. Our class furnished excellent material for successful football, basketball, and swimming squads. The social events of the year were two parties, one in December and the other in April. Both of these were attended by a large percentage of the members of the class.

In our junior year, we presented "The House Beautiful" as the annual class play. It was directed by Miss Iris Haverstack and was rated as one of the most enjoyable productions ever to be presented to a McKinley High school audience. It was given on the nights of March 31, and April 1.

The social events for the junior year consisted of two parties, one in December and the other in February and the junior-senior reception, given in May. The two former ones were for members of the class only and were held in the music room of the school. The latter was in honor of the outgoing senior class and was given at the Land O' Dance.

During the same year, many places on the varsity and reserve athletic teams were filled by members of the class. Sixteen boys were given varsity athletic letters. A number of the girls participated in the Army-Navy and Yale-Harvard games.

The senior year was however the happiest and most outstanding. The varsity athletic teams composed mostly of seniors did commendable work, and established exceptionally good records in every sport. Twenty boys received football letters, and five were presented with basketball awards. The swimming team was outstanding, most of the swimming letters going to seniors. Senior girls were again represented in the Army-Navy and Yale-Harvard teams.

One hundred and eleven members of the class were admitted to National Honor Society, eighteen of them in their junior year. Twenty one were elected to Quill and Scroll, the International Honor Society for High School Journalists. Debate teams, made up largely of seniors again showed their ability to do good work.

On February 10, and 11, the senior Choral club presented the "Bohemian Girl." This opera was directed by Mr. Leslie D. Hanson, and Miss Florence Hill.

Carrying on the tradition of the year, before, the seniors presented the "Royal Family" on the nights of December 8, and 9.

Three class parties were held during the year, the first in November, the second in February, and the third in April. The seniors were the guests of the juniors at a reception given for them at the Land O' Dance on the night of May 12. The final social events of the year were Class Night and the Class Picnic.

The class was assembled as a whole for the last time on commencement night.

JUNIOR REVIEW

JUNIORS have an advantage over seniors and sophomores at McKinley, because, while the other two classes are being teased, one for its dignity and the other for its lack of dignity, the juniors are left to do their work well. The junior class of '35 functioned most successfully under these circumstances.

This was the first year that students from Lehman entered McKinley as juniors. The enrollment of the class including 300 students who came to us from Lehman totaled 1250. Representatives from each home room section were elected early in the year to attend all council meetings. The election of class officers resulted in Richard Miller being selected as president; Betty Mizer, vice president; Maxine Perdue, secretary; and Fritz Myers, treasurer. The class guardians are: Mr. Riley, chairman, Mr. Carter, Miss Broda, Miss Erdman, Mr. Ford, Mr. Fry, Mr. Gowdy, Mr. Littell, Miss Marburger, Mr. Peabody, Miss Rice, Miss C. Schneider, Mr. C. C. Smith, and Mr. Wright.

With flying flags and fife and drum, the juniors celebrated a national holiday on November by their first party of the year, the "Armistice Jubilee." Juniors also displayed unusual talent at their "Showboat Revue" held February 24. Early in the year, September 25, the girls who had already attended McKinley gave a "Get-a-Gal" party for the new girls from Lehman in the music room.

The class has been well represented in athletics, both by the boys and by the girls. Four boys received varsity football letters, James Huff, Earl Haas, Red Halter, and Bob Daniels. Reserve football lettermen were; Dick Miller, George Roman, Red McDermott, Richard Roth, George Fryer, Andrew St. George, and Henry Mack. Junior Bulldogs, who earned varsity basketball letters were Earl Haas, Red Halter, James Huff, and John Kanam. Reserve basketball letters were awarded to Dick Miller, George Misheff, Kenneth Stone, Ralph Stertzbach, Charles Fisher, Don Crewse, and Bob Daniels. Swimming letters were awarded to Dave Born, Leo Kacergis, Robert Hoffman, and William Youngen.

Junior girls who played in the Army-Navy hockey game were Tessie Bakter, Evelyn Danner, Barbara Shaffner, Edna McWalter, Pamelia Tate, Margaret Komp, Carolyn Rogers, Coletta Rothermel, Ann Tinkler, and Catherine Leist. The girls who played in the annual Yale-Harvard basketball game were Irene Gurtlinger, Lois Kirkland, Maxine Mobley, Josephine Jurkovic, Coletta Rothermel, and Eleanor Evans. Three girls were admitted into the honorary swimming club, Charlotte Isler, Gladyne Irwin, and Avanell Gregory.

Juniors interested in dramatics presented the play "The Fool" by Channing Pollock in the school auditorium on April 27 and 28.

The junior class has supported all school activities with loyalty and enthusiasm and is proud to present its long list of accomplishments.

SOPHOMORE REVIEW

IN September another large sophomore class entered McKinley. Approximately sixteen hundred were on the enrollment list. But the enormous size of our class did not prevent activities from moving smoothly after we were acquainted with McKinley.

The guides deserve a rousing vote of thanks for the aid given the lost little sophomores wandering about the halls the first weeks of school. At first the task of learning to feel at home in so large a school seemed practically hopeless but soon we found ourselves becoming a part of this complicated machinery of McKinley.

In November a councilman and alternate were elected by each class and the following were chosen class officers: president, Fred Crewse; vice-president, Mary Girard; secretary, Jane Hawk; treasurer, Gerald Crawford.

We were glad to have begun our years in senior high school in a year when all the athletic ventures were so successful. But we were doubly proud because our sophomore boys were represented on the teams—both varsity and reserve. Bill Green, Tillman Allen, and Howard Wertman played football with the varsity while a number of others were on the reserve teams.

Sophomore girls are not to go unrecognized for they were well represented on the various teams. On the Yale-Harvard basketball squads Jessie Mac Wiggan, Agnes Soldatis, Virginia Brown, Verna Schmidt, and Elpinicky Gunias represented the sophomore class. The Sophomore girls in the Army-Navy game were Virginia Brown; Jane Belding; Palmetta Staudt, Virginia Stratton, Betty Clatterbuck, Elpinicky Gunias and Margaret Kainez.

A program under the supervision of Miss Florence Hill was presented by the Sophomore Dramatic club. Two plays were given—"The Blue Tea Pot," and "The Silver Swan." Several dance numbers were also presented. After the program in the auditorium there was dancing in the music room. The second party was held on May 4, with a program presented by the Dramatic club and dancing afterward.

Our class of '36 has endeavored to uphold the standards of the school in regards to scholarship also. The eighty or more who have kept all grades above ninety percent, are an example of the ideals the class has striven to attain.

Our first year at McKinley has been a successful and very pleasant one. A great part of his success is due to the class guardians. This year the guardians have been: Mr. Deetz, chairman, Mr. Brooker, Mr. Bixler, Mr. Cherry, Mr. Warren, Mr. Vance, Mr. Goss, Miss Galbreath, Miss Gruber, Miss Roller, Miss Ruff, Miss Stonehill and Miss Shaver.

VARSITY SWIMMING

UNDER the coaching of Ted Branin, the McKinley swimming team again swam their way to a most successful season. They won all ten of their dual meets, took third place both in the meet for northeastern Ohio and in the state meet.

In the first meet of the season, they were pitted against Akron Y on December 9, and won 44-31. They swam away from Sandusky 38-30. A third victory was taken from Shaker Heights by a score of 46-35. Akron East was met and defeated 44-26. Lakewood, a team with an enviable record was defeated 46-29, and East Tech was taken over by a 43-22 score.

In a return engagement, the swimmers again won from Akron Y, this time by 52-23. On February 9, McKinley's swimmers left home to win from Sandusky in their own pool 43-32. The following day, the mermen struggled with Shaker Heights and for a second time came through with a victory, this time 39-36. The last of the dual meets was held in Canton and resulted in a 47-28 victory over the University School of Cleveland.

The team then went out of the state to enter the meet at University of Pittsburgh. They took first place, thus keeping their standing of the year before. The following Saturday, March 24, they took first place in a meet at Carnegie Tech.

The total point record for the year was McKinley, 442—opponents 292.

First Row—Jurkovic, Huff, Remmer, Frye, Swimmer, Miller, Allen, Mack, VanArsdale. Second Row—Shopbell, Shipley, Wertman, Abdulla, Haas, Green, D. Crewse, R. Abdulla, Fryer, St. George. VARSITY TRACK

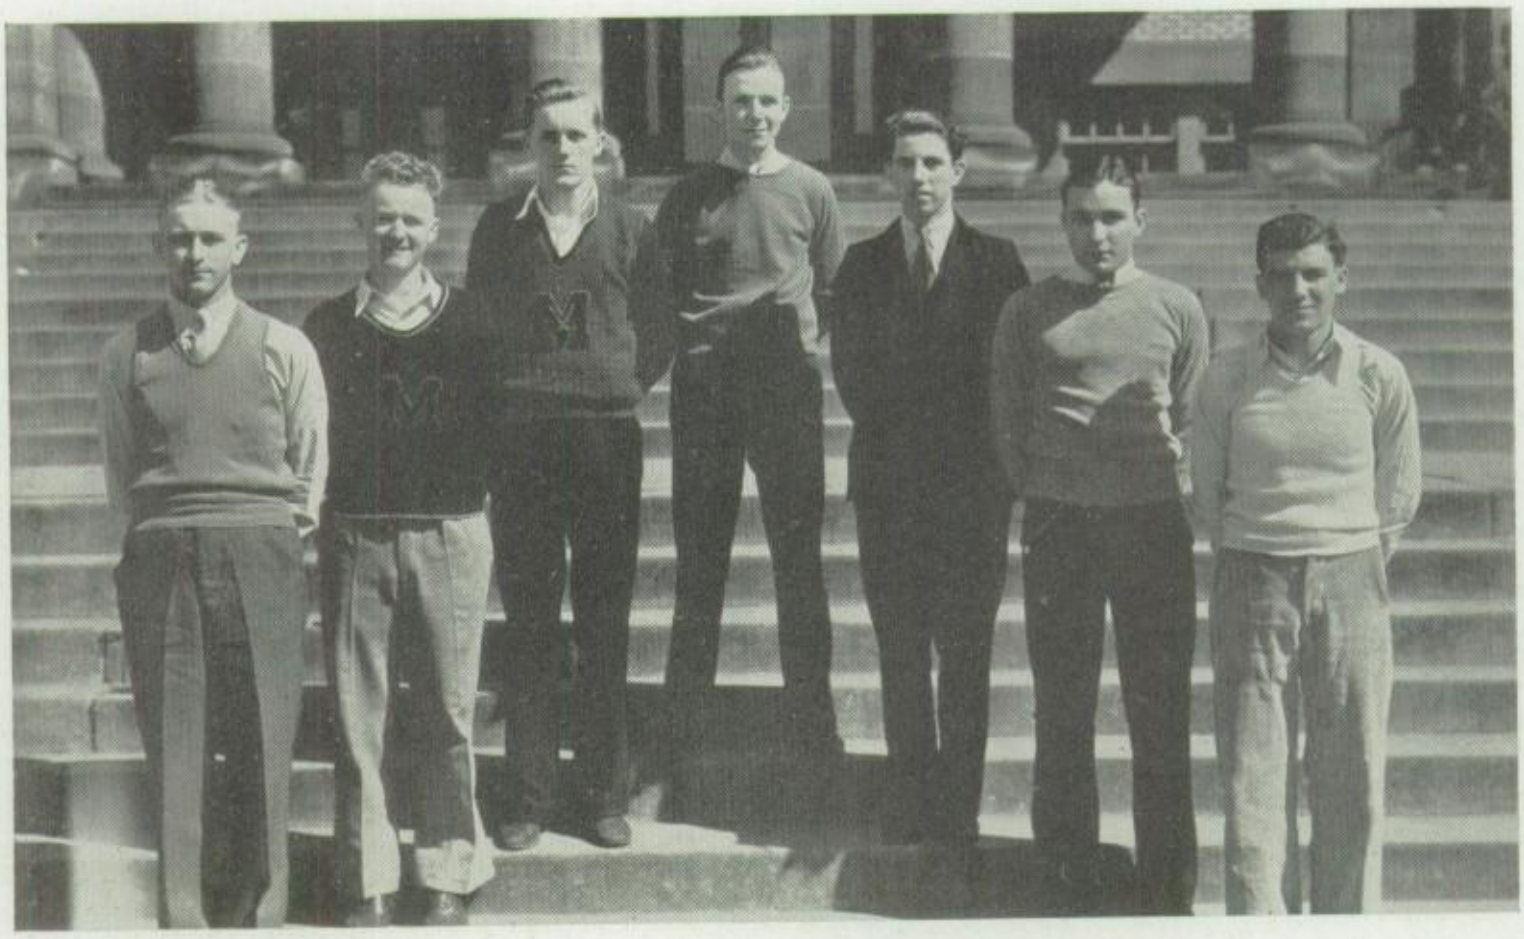
THIS year, the same as last year, track facilities have been greatly limited. Through the co-operation of the city recreation board adequate means were established. The team practiced at Nimisilla park and the field events were practiced at Cook park. Due to the lack of a proper field, McKinley carried on its dual meets at different cities. The Salem meet was held at Salem, and the district meet was held at Youngstown.

The season began with two lettermen on the varsity squad, Swimmer, and Huff. Several others had had varsity training but had been unable to earn their letters.

The first meet was held at Louisville on April 7, in which Canton McKinley competed with Louisville and Akron East. The next week, the tractsters traveled to Salem for their second meet, a dual one with Salem. April 28, the team again went to Louisville where they entered into dual competition with the team from Mansfield. On May 5, the team entered a dual meet with Rayen. The following week, May 12, was the annual district meet, which was also held at Youngstown. The annual state meet was held at Columbus. This formed a fitting climax to a successful season.

This year's squad was strong in the dashes as they have been in former years, and the field men, true to predictions, showed strength in their events.



Portofe, Stone, Thurin, Sponhour, Sibert, Peterman, Santangelo.

VARSITY GOLF

OF the spring sports golf has proven to be one of the most popular at McKinley. The students take unlimited interest along this line and each season McKinley has been able to produce a successful team. This years team consisted of eight players of which the team was fortunate in having four returning lettermen to back them up.

The returning lettermen were Stone, Sponhour, Portofe, and Santangelo. It was predicted that Peterman and Sibert were promising candidates for the varsity teams. Two others were candidates for the varsity teams. Two others were chosen from the best players of the three classes.

Meets were scheduled for April 13, and at least one for each following week, however the schedule has not been definitely arranged but an interesting program is promised.

Mr. Carter, coach for the team, has arranged for the home games to be played at the Tam-O-Shanter Golf links. It is predicted that from the outlook of last years team, McKinley will produce an even better standing in the district and State meets. In former years McKinley has always had a team worthy of its name, and this year will be no exception.

VARSITY TENNIS

WITH much of the veteran material lost due to graduation Mr. Wright selected his team from the group of players above and those who had ability to win qualifying matches. By the process of elimination the outstanding players were picked for varsity material. Before weather permitted, the gymnasium was used for practice for the oncoming season. The team was unfortunate in having only two lettermen back, however the quality of material proved excellent for the varsity squad.

The team was composed of 12 members of which two had received letters from the preceeding year. Four other candidates were material developed from the sophomore class. The remaining six were chosen from the best players of the junior and senior class, Lloyd Colvin and Dick McFarlane were the returning lettermen.

An interesting schedule was arranged throughout nearby cities in addition to the sectional tournament.

Last year McKinley possessed an outstanding Varsity squad. They placed first in the District meet, then going to Columbus to take a seventh in the State meet. It is expected that McKinley will do as well if not better this season in both the District and State meets. Mr. Wright, coach of the varsity tennis squad, predicts a favorable season for his raquetteers and a possible place in the District tournament to be held at Brookside.

BAND

NO McKinley game would be complete without these student musicians. They are at every game at home and help to lead the team on to victory by playing "Stand Up and Cheer" and Fight on McKinley." The latter was composed by their director, Mr. Ellmore Miller. The band started its work at the beginning of the year, both by practicing those pieces which it intended to use and by practicing drill in formations.

It will be remembered how the band worked out such formations as "Howdy fans" and "Hello". Three days a week and two periods a day the band practiced its formations at Harter field. Mr. Miller directed the drilling as well as the playing. But the band did not stop its athletic projects with the end of football. During all the basketball games, the band was assembled on the stage to aid the students in singing.

The band appeared 75 strong in the NRA parade and won the approval of all spectators for their playing and for their excellent appearance.

These boys have done more than merely play for the different activities of the school, although they have played at numerous assemblies. They gave a concert in the city auditorium at Christmas time and another at the school auditorium in April.

Some of the difficult numbers which have been played are "Don Quixote Suite", "First Norwegian Rhapsody", Glow-worm", "Maytime", and "Persian Market".

First Row—St. George, Fryer, Mentzer, Rooney, Russ, Hagerman, Cowan, Critoria, Swihart, Mack. Second Row—Beazel, Schuster, Sturrett, Tonnatto, Lutz, Clark, Anderson, MacDermott, Roman, Born. Miller, Groenke, Boone, Snyder, Tilden, Crewse, Roth, Quinn, Marker, Scozereili, Turner.

RESERVE FOOTBALL

RESERVE gridders finished their season with a good showing, winning three games out of six, losing two and tieing one, for a percentage of 600 as compared with the record of the year before of 664.

Middlebranch, Akron East, and St. John's High school of Canton, all fell before the reserve team, by scores of 25-2, 20-0, and 27-0 respectively. The reserves were impressive in most of their games, but at times lacked the scoring punch as shown in their two defeats, by Akron East in a return game, and by Sebring. Sebring triumphed 6-0, while Akron East with a revamped line-up won 13-6.

The only tie game was played with Akron South. A muddy and icy field resulted in a scoreless deadlock.

The reserve squad consisted of 47 men, of whom 19 received letters. These latter were Dave Born, John Critoria, Robert Fryer, Earl Jones, Henry Mack, Richard Miller, George Roman, Richard Roth, George Russ, Andy St. George, Tony Sturrett, Emery Turner, Rudolph Schuster, Angelo Scozzarello, Dan Rooney, Paul Quinn, Dwight Mentzer, James McDermott, and Fred Crewse. The latter eight will be chief contenders for next year's varsity squad.

Coach Charles M. Wright coached the reserves and has some men ready for varsity berths later.

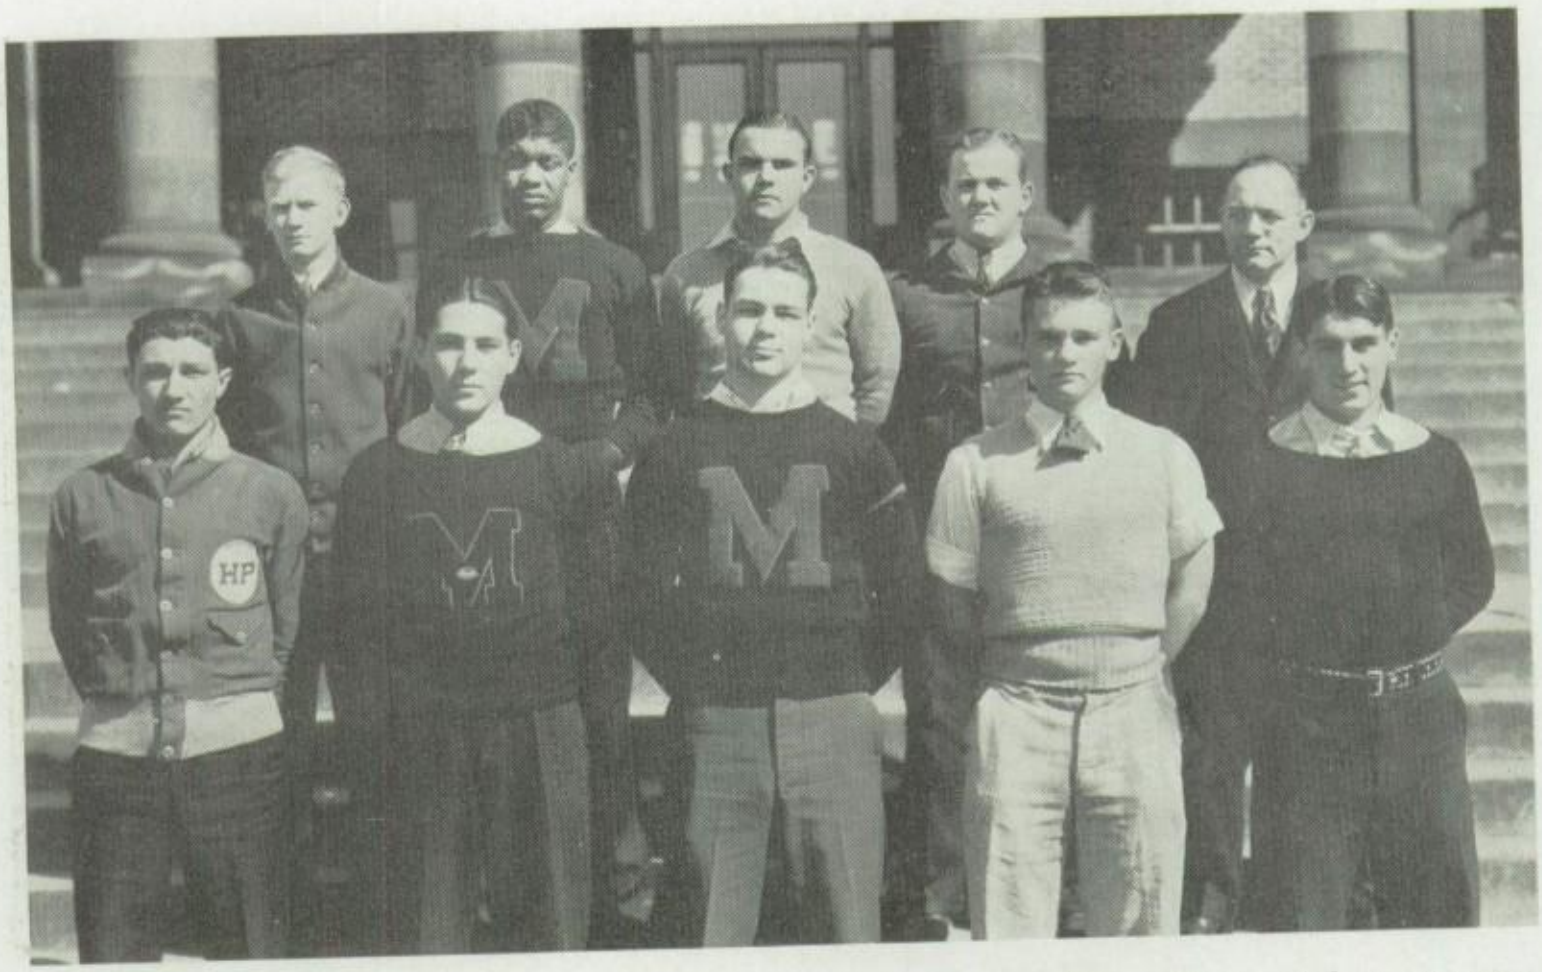
First Row—Miller, Misheff, F. Crewse, Stertzbach, Fischer. Second Row—Daniels, Fonte, Young, D. Crewse, Dilling, Stone. Third Row—Becker, Flagemir, Scott.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

COACH Ellis Carter's reserve basketball team stood up well this year, in spite of the difficult schedule made for them. The team, while not winning all of its games showed outstanding ability in both offensive and defensive tactics. Although slight weaknesses which cost them a few games, were seen at the opening of the season, the team showed steady improvement as their schedule advanced.

The pups won 10 out of a possible 14 games, and scored a total of 417 points. Cleveland Collinwood suffered a disastrous defeat of 37-7. Then the pups lost a tight game to Alliance 20-18. In the third game Akron East was turned back 27-12, and a 26-24 victory was taken over Youngstown Chaney. After losing the next game to Massillon 18-14, three consequetive victories were in order, over Akron South 29-13, over Cleveland Heights 45-25, and over Akron East 29-21. The next game was a loss to St. John 35-31. Alliance which was met again was defeated 33-9 and Massillon was edged 37-24. The final game was a romp over Dover by an exciting victory of 32-22.

The successful season for this year's reserves offers great promise for the varsity outlook of next year. The schedule which they played will give them excellent experience for what is to come. Many of the boys whom they met this year as members of reserve squads of other schools will be faced next year and the year after as members of the same schools' varsity teams.



First Row—St. George, Fryer, Green, Wertman, Jurkovic. Second Row—Aiken, student manager, Allen, Frigley, Young, Coach Young.

GRIDDERS

THIS year Coach Ward E. Young started what promises to excite much interest in the field of athletics. It is for the football players who did not quite make the varsity basketball squad but had ability in playing to make what is called the Gridders squad. The team proved very successful through the season and received much athletic experience. Their fighting spirit was predominate in all the games and was indicative of their football training.

The squad did not maintain a permanent and advanced schedule but played short notice challenge games. They were trained by Coach Young and practiced and scrimmaged with the varsity teams.

The games being played as a preliminary to the varsity games were held at the city Auditorium. Among their victories was a 51-22 walk away over the Christians. They next defeated the Hi-Y team 47-54. The following game was one of their few defeats of the season and was administered by the Star Cleaners 34-32. The last three games were played against Lehman in which the Gridders were overwhelmingly victorious, 42-21; 36-25; 40-25.

The showing of this year's team will undoubtedly lead to an even more outstanding season for the following year providing an aggregation of this sort will be reorganized.

All of these players were sophomores and juniors with the exception of Jurkovic, a senior.

ARMY-NAVY

POSTPONED from late last fall because of the inclement weather, the Army-Navy hockey game was finally played in the late spring at Lehman field. The game comes as a climax to the intramural hockey season, and the girls selected for the big game are those, no matter from what class they come, who have shown unusual skill and ability in that sport. Miss Sharff made the selections, thus conferring distinct honors on the girls so named.

Harter field on Market avenue north is the field on which the regular class games are played and on which all the practicing for the final game is carried out. Up until two years ago, the Army-Navy game was also played there. Then when the field at Lehman was fixed up, it was decided to move the game to that field, and the annual classic is now staged there.

Members of the Army team were captained by Jean Klingstedt. Playing with her were: Tessie Bakter, Mary Alice Stevens, Evelyn Danner, Virginia Stratton, Betty Hahn, Peggy Rastetter, Lois Kirkland, Margaret Kaincz, Elpinicky Gunias, and Eileen Shea. Substitutes were Lucille Gang, Carolyn Rogers, and Marie Zerbe.

The Navy team was captained by Beatrice Keyes, who had Rita Berger, Barbara Shaffner, Virginia Brown, Valery Hook, Edna McWalter, Betty Clatterbuck, Pamelia Tate, Palmeta Staudt, Jane Belding, and Esther Kienzle playing with her. As substitutes, Navy had Peggy Stock, Margaret Komp, and Coletta Rothermel.

YALE-HARVARD

THE Yale-Harvard teams selected by Miss Lynn at the end of the girls' basketball season on the merits of their playing ability, staged their annual clash in the music room Friday night, March 16. Finishing with a score of 29-28, Yale edged out its opponent in a close and well fought game. Due to the fact that the teams were so evenly matched, the excitement ran high throughout the entire game.

Much school spirit and sportsmanship were shown. The school band played and both Harvard and Yale bleachers were filled with ardent rooters who happened to be both students and teachers. During intermission yells were lead by the student who represented each team.

Harvard made the first field goal, but Yale scored soon afterwards and was quite far in the lead at the end of the first quarter. Harvard rallied in the second quarter, however, and at the half the score was only 16-15 in favor of Yale. Continuing their rally, Harvard forged ahead and was leading 26-21 at the end of third quarter. Then Yale staged a comeback. Both teams fought hard and Yale netted the winning field goal just a few seconds before the gun sounded.

Members of the victorious Yale team were Jean Klingstedt, captain; Doris DeYarmon; Bernice Dieringer; Virginia Brown; Irene Gurtlinger, Lois Kirkland, Doris Schrecongost, Mary Bast, Elpinicky Gunias, and Verna Schmidt.

Members of the Harvard team were Beatrice Keyes, captain, Betty Hahn, Maxine Mobley, Eleanor Evans, Jessie MacWiggan, Tessie Bakter, Josephine Jurkovic, Agnes Soldatis, Lucille Gang, Esther Kienzle and Coletta Rothermel.

First Row—Needs, Altman, Hinderer, Hahn, Berger. Second Row—Soldatis, Keyes, Wonderyka, Bean, Isler. Third Row—Clatterbuck, Girtler, Irwin, Newcomer. Fourth Row—Wood, Brenet, Castell, Zerbe.

GIRLS' SWIMMING CLUB

UNDER the direction of Miss Sharff, the girls' swimming club was organized this year. It is a new honorary athletic group for the girls and is composed of senior, junior, and sophomore girls who ranked first, second, or third in the swimming meet for girls which was run off during the early months of this year.

In previous years intramural swimming meets were held to determine class champions, but this year, the swimming meet was held to determine the girls who would compose the newly organized club. This eliminated class honors and bestowed them on the girls who actually won them.

Eighteen girls make up the club: Keyes, Hahn, and Wondreyka who took first, second, and third places in diving; Altman, Casteel, and Clatterbuck who took similar places in the breast stroke; Soldatis, Berger, and Wood for the crawl; Girtler, Hinderer, and Newcomer for the side over; Irwen, Needs, and Bean racing back for time; Isler, side stroke for form; Zerbe, crawl for form; and Brenet, breast stroke for form.

In order to receive a swimming club emblem, each girl was required to take a test, consisting of two lengths of the pool with the crawl stroke in 22 seconds; one length of the side over in 14 seconds; two lengths of the racing back in 30 seconds; proper execution of four dives, the standing dive, front jack, running front, and jack dive; and two lengths of the breast stroke in 38 seconds.

SENIOR BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

SENIOR boys came out on top this year in the annual volleyball competition. They edged out the juniors in a closely matched series of sets. The sophs as usual were left behind by the fast stepping upper classmen.

The seniors won 20 games and lost three as compared to the juniors and sophs, who won 19 and six, and lost four and 17, respectively.

Made up of practically the same material as last year, the senior team showed a splendidly efficient attack. They entered the final set of games, two games behind the juniors, but won every game to uphold the traditions of former senior classes.

There were two teams from each class and from these teams, those who best demonstrated their abilities, and who were most regular in attendance received emblems. Seniors thus honored were; Herbert Satow, Howard Satow, Francis Freeman, Harry Freedman, Don Stively, Ed Hogan, Bob Baughman, Bob Carr, Dick Smith, Willard Gardner, Harry Ellis, Dick McFarlane.

The boys were instructed by Coach Ellis Carter. Some of the boys on this team played intramural volleyball in their sophomore and junior years and thus were well trained for senior games.

SENIOR GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

MANY enthusiastic senior girls turned out for volleyball this year. This sport is usually carried on earlier in the saeson, generally before basketball activities are started, but this year, the games were played in the spring, ending the long list of girls' athletic activities for the entire year.

Miss Lynn, who supervises the volleyball season, selected the most capable senior, junior and sophomore girls from the many who signed up, to compose class squads. These teams then played a series of interclass games to determine the class champions. In former years the postgraduate girls interested in this sport formed a team and competed with the senior, junior, and sophomore teams.

The climax to the volleyball season was the west Point-Annapolis game. This game corresponds to the Yale-Harvard and Army-Navy games, but is not quite as well known. From the girls who composed the senior, junior and sophomore class teams Miss Lynn selected 16 players who displayed exceptional ability, to make up each all-star team.

Volleyball is not quite as well known as the other girls athletic events but it provides much pleasure and skillful competition for the many girls interested in this sport.

Chuck Little "35"

IN accordance with their relative standings of past years, the juniors of this year ran the senior class players a close second in the contests. The juniors led from the first round until the final, in which the seniors spurted to take four straights to win. The juniors finished with an average of 825 as compared to the seniors with 869 and the sophs with only 261.

The juniors, composed of nearly the same list of boys who won only six of their games last year, came back splendidly in a co-ordinated attack. They were unable to take first place, but it is the first time in three years that the juniors have been able to finish this sport in any place but the van.

Nine boys of this class received emblems upon their merits. They were Sanford Noel, Charles Pulley, Arthur Reisinger, Charles Little, Stanley Wynkop, Carl Kiesling, Stanley Renkert, Bill Merriman and Bob Slusser.

This year's schedule showed 23 games to be played in a series of eight sets. The play was on the plan of a round-robin, each team playing every other team four times. Howard Summers was the student manager in charge of the tournament refereeing. The senior team of next year promises to be an outstanding one in this field.

JUNIOR girls responded to Miss Lynn's call for volleyball players this year with a large number of interested girls. Added to the number of girls who went out for volleyball last year at McKinley were many juniors who spent their sophomore year at Lehman High school.

In previous years the volleyball season was in the fall, but this year the tournament games were played in the spring.

Many girls signed up to enter, but only those who proved their skill in playing the game were selected to make up the class teams. After Miss Lynn had selected these senior, junior, and sophomore teams, they competed with each other for the class championship.

Climaxing the volleyball season was the West Point-Annapolis game, the outstanding event of the season. It was the goal of all girls out for volleyball to make one of these two teams. Miss Lynn selected 16 of the best players from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes to compose these all-star teams. Many rooters from each team turned out to cheer the girls along toward victory.

Volleyball is not as entirely new to girls upon entering McKinley as some of the sports, such as hockey, because most of the junior high schools play this game. Therefore the games are quite skillfully and excitingly played.

SENIOR BOYS' BASKETBALL

FOR the second successive year, a strong senior class easily won intramural basketball honors. The same group of players, who last year as juniors put the class ahead was again responsible for this year's effectiveness. The season consisted of two elimination series, both of which were won by senior teams. Each class placed four teams in the finals, but only two of the teams of the other classes showed any particular opposition to the seniors.

The two outstanding teams of the senior class were the Slipper Slips and the Wolverines. The former won first half honors but finished runners up to the Wolverines for the second half laurels. The latter finished runners up in the first tournament, thereby placing them in a tie for the season's honors with 18 points apiece.

Points were scored as follows: winners received 10 points, runners up, eight points, and the other semi-finalists six points apiece.

The Spartans, also seniors, survived to the semi-final round in both tournaments to account for 12 points for their class. The roster of the Slipper Slips included; Bertalam, Mag, Bartos, Russ, Kapan, Betros, and Thomas. Those playing for the Wolverines were McFarlane, Baughman, Daberko, Long, Smith, Bressi, Hogan, Satow, and Bowen. All of these boys received emblems.

First Row—Haynam, Nyman, Klingstedt, Keyes, Dieringer, Kienzli. Second Row—Bennett, Matheson, DeYarmon, Gang, Stock. Third Row—Zerbe, Shea, Schrecongost, Coleman, Rickart, Hahn.

SENIOR GIRLS' BASKETBALL

SENIOR girls won the intramural basketball championship again this year, but were given some close competition. The A team lost none of their four games, winning three and tieing in the fourth. The senior B team came out victorious in three of their four contests.

In the A team games the seniors successfully defeated the junior A's in the first contest 32-26, and in a second game, 28-26. The sophomores were defeated by the seniors 19-11 in the first game, but tied in the second 18-18.

The senior B team conquered the junior B team only by slight margins in both of the two games played, winning the first 12-12, and the second 11-10. They lost to the sophomore B's in the first game, but defeated them in a second game 13-6.

Before the A and B teams were selected, the girls were tentatively placed on Red, Blue, and Green color teams in order to determine their ability in playing the game.

Members of the senior A team were: Keyes, class captain; Hahn, Dieringer, DeYarmon, Kienzle, Klingstedt, Schrecongost, Gang, Stock, and Nyman.

The seniors who composed the B team were: Coleman, Zerbe, Bennett, Schroeder, Williams, Hook, Rickard, Matheson, Chenot, Shea, and Haynam.

JUNIOR BOYS' BASKETBALL

THE junior class fared well in basketball this year, finishing second only to the strong seniors. Although not many boys turned out, one team, the Flashes, managed to reach the semifinals in each of two tournaments held during the year. Several other teams were organized, but failed to put in an appearance or were beaten in the first round. One other team won one game in each contest but lost in quarter-final play. The juniors gathered 20 points, the seniors totalled 48, and the sophomores bagged eight. The seniors maintained an average of 727 per cent while winning 16 games and losing six. The juniors won six and lost eight for 427. The sophs won only two while losing eight for an average of 200.

This year's per cent record may be compared favorably with that of last year's which was 594. Last year's junior class won the school championship. However the lower classes will have to show more interest if future competition is to be a success. Some effort must be given to bringing out the sophomores, as past records show that most boys who started in their first year, continued through their senior year. Coach Charles Wright was in charge of this sport, while Howard Summers acted as student manager.

JUNIOR girls ranked second in the intramural basketball tournament, exhibiting fine talent. The junior A team won one game and tied for honors in a second out of the four games in which they participated. The junior B girls won two of their four games.

The junior A team lost to the senior A's in both games played, by the scores of 32-26, and 28-26. The last game was lost by the juniors by a very narrow margin, and only after a hard-fought game. The juniors easily defeated the sophomore A girls in their first contest 32-14, but their second encounter with the sophomores ended in a tie, 22-22.

The junior B team girls lost both of their games with the seniors 14-12 and 11-10, both games being extremely close. The juniors defeated the sophomore B's 20-18, and 22-18 in the two games played with them.

Due to the unusual amount of talent found in the junior class seven girls succeeded in making the annual Yale-Harvard game.

Girls on the junior A team were: Gurtlinger, class captain; Bakter, Mobley, Kirkland, Evans, Nicholson, McWalter, Jurkovic, Rothermel, Bast, Drake, Tate, Shoffner, and Fisher.

Members of the junior B team were: Smith, Morris, Howell, Davis, Danner, Rankin, Steed, Gaume, Alflem, Summer, Leist, Komp, and Abbot.

SOPHOMORE boys this year produced a basketball team, which while it didn't take honors was strong enough to present plenty of worry to the teams of the junior and senior classes. The sophomores were handicapped by a lack of experience and by a lack of inclination to come out and try for places. This was due to the inability of the boys to know each other as well as did the boys of the other classes. The third place is not new to sophomores for they have been unable to win from their foes since 1929.

The "C" teams displayed splendid sportsmanship and although the odds were against them in most of the games, they never gave up until the last whistle of the game blew. Only two teams came out to battle for their class but those two gave every evidence of a determination to gain honors for their class. One of the teams reached the quarter finals in each of the tournaments. It scored all the points for its class.

Undoubtedly it was due to their lack of experience that they were unable to outscore their opponents. However, in spite of the small showing in numbers, their ardor was not dampened in the least and with more practice and coaching, they will prove strong competitors next year. In addition they will be expected to furnish some varsity material for next year, for they have boys well qualified for those positions. The experience gained will count in the long run for McKinley.

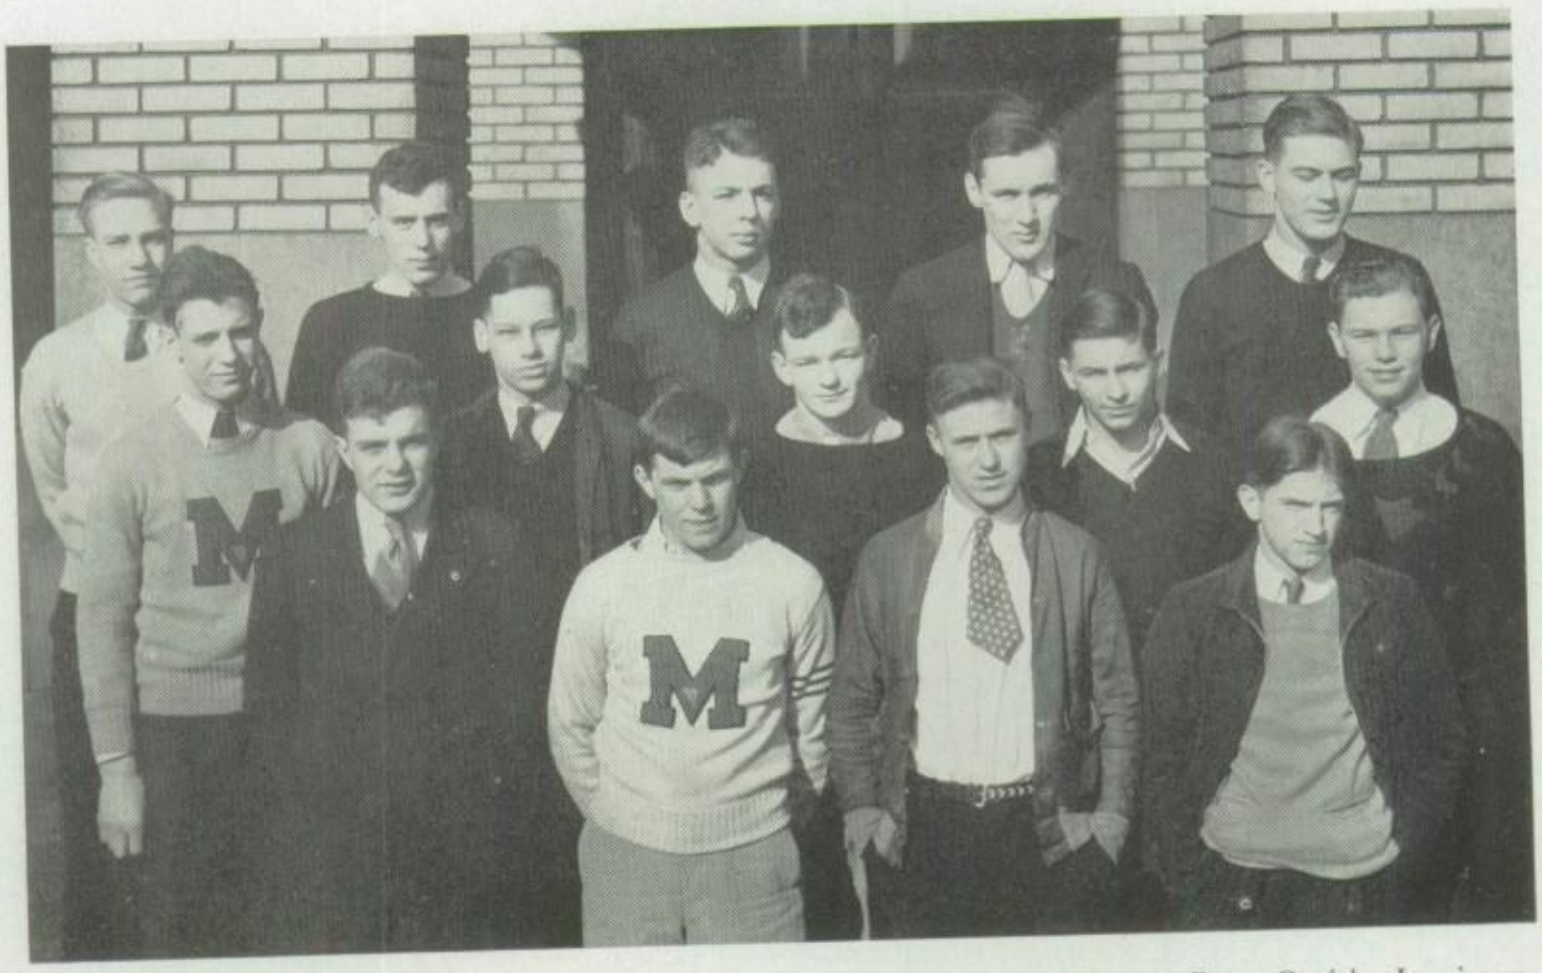
ALTHOUGH they came out last in the girls' intramural basketball tournament, the sophomores can be proud of the class struggles which they put up against their more experienced opponents. The sophomore A team managed to tie the scores of two of their four games, while the sophomore B team won only one of their games.

In their two games with the seniors, the sophomore A girls' lost their first game 19-11, but improved so much that they tied with the seniors 18-18 in the second contest. Likewise they were defeated by the junior A's once 32-14, but tied the score 22-22 in a second game.

The sophomore B's were not quite so fortunate. They defeated the senior B's once, but lost their second game to the seniors 13-6. They bowed to the juniors B's in both games, but only by a few points each time, losing by the scores of 20-18, and 22-18.

The sophomores who were selected for the A team were: Brown, Class captain; MacWiggin, Puncheon, Swiger, Abram, Houck, Soldatis, Gunias, Schmidt, Staudt, and Stratton.

The sophomore girls who composed the B team were: Forte, Graham, Davis, Kehl, Zeka, Gergel, Fox, Clatterbuck, Walter, Wesner, Verus, and Needs.



First Row—McGaughey, Figley, Szabo, Boher. Second Row—Meyer, Swope, Frye, Smith, Jamieson. Third Row—Evans, Hirsch, Shipley, Clatterbuck, Holsing.

SENIOR BOYS' SWIMMING

MAKING it the fifth consecutive season the seniors won the intramural swimming meet, defeating the lower classes quite handily.

After a rather slow start, the upper classmen scored a total of 48 points, followed by the juniors with 34 points and the sophomores with 18. They gathered a total of five first places.

Trailing the juniors 17 to 14 after the completion of three events, they went on to score four first places, two second places and three third places in the next five events. Meyer in the backstroke, Smith in the 220 yard free style, and Shipley in the 100 yard free style, accounted for the three individual firsts.

The 160 yard and medley relay teams scored the other first places. Meyer, Evans, Smith, Szabo, Frye and McGaughey composed these two teams.

There were no outstanding scorers in the meet. Smith, Shipley, and Figley all placed in each of two events. Smith won the 220 free style and led off in the 160 relay events. Shipley captured the 100 yard free style and took third in the 40 yard free while Figley took third and second respectively in the same events.

The seniors placed ten men on the varsity squad this year: Meyer, Figley, Hirsch, Smith, McGaughey, Evans, Shipley, Holsing, and Swope.

First Row—Youngen, Swihart, Hoffman, Handle. Second Row—Kacergis, Hoffman, Born.

JUNIOR BOYS' SWIMMING

JUNIOR boys were well represented in the annual interclass competition this year. They lost only after a game fight, trailing the seniors by only three points prior to the fifth event.

They scored 34 points while collecting three firsts, three seconds, one third and three fourth places. This was largely through the able efforts of Youngen, Born and Kacergis who triumphed in diving, the 40 yard free style, and 100 yard breast stroke respectively. Hoffman, Navorska, and Swihart also scored to hoist their class substantially into second place. The junior teams placed second in both relays—160 and medley.

Hoffman scored four and Born scored six points to be the only junior participants to place in more than one event.

This is the fifth consecutive year the juniors have finished second or third to the champions, having upset tradition six years ago to win first place. The juniors will have to develop more material to win first place as seniors next year. Their available material is excellent but not so long on quantity. However if the sophomores get no more material the juniors will easily win first place unless the incoming lower classmen next year have had much experience.

The juniors placed Born, Kacergis, Youngen, Bob Hoffman, Swihart, and Robert Hoffman on the varsity squad.

SOPHOMORE boys proved that all incoming classes are just about the same when it comes to swimming. For two years in a row they have scored only 18 points in the annual meet in which the seniors, juniors and sophs participate.

They displayed a woeful lack of seasoned material. They assembled a total of two second and four third places, not getting any first places at all. This is in sharp contrast to the meet of last year. In this meet they had an outstanding performer in Bolendar, who single handed swam to 10 points of his team's 18.

They placed only four men on the varsity squad, Mamaux, Freeman, Bohnsack and Handle of whom only the first two performed in the contest.

Freeman, Sima, Mamaux, and Morrou placed in one event each, Freeman grabbing a second in diving, Sima, a third in the same, while Mamaux snared a third in the 100 yard backstroke and Morrou a second in the 220 yard free style. The two relay teams managed to pull up third in fields of three each two score the other points.

The scoring was as follows; five, three, two and one for individual and eight, six, four for team events.

SENIOR GIRLS' HOCKEY

SENIOR girls this year were the undisputed victors of the intramural hockey season, easily winning all of their scheduled games. The girls were divided into A and B teams according to their playing ability, and a C team was then made up consisting of the better players on the A and B teams. A total of seven games were played.

There was only one game in which the sophomores were able to score against the seniors, and only one game in which the juniors were able to score against them. The latter game was quite a close one, the seniors edging out the juniors by one point.

The senior A team defeated the sophomore A and C teams 2-1, and 7-0, while the senior B team defeated the sophomore B and D teams by the scores of 5-0, and 3-0.

In the contests with the juniors, the senior A team conquered the junior A team 4-3, the senior B team conquered the junior B team 3-0, and the senior C team defeated the junior C team 2-0.

The seniors had fewer girls respond to Miss Sharff's annual call for players than either the juniors or sophomores, but they still made an impressive record for themselves by winning all seven of their contests.

First Row—Danner, Tate, Rogers, Bast, Bakter. Second Row—DeCosmo, Leist, Tinkler, Komp, Shaffner, Drake. Third Row—Isler, Rothermel, Howell, Kirkland, Steed, Au.

JUNIOR GIRLS' HOCKEY

JUNIOR girls, this year, in spite of the fact that they had good material on their teams, failed to win any of their annual hockey games. However, because of bad weather, they had no opportunity to play their scheduled games with the sophomores.

Added to the junior team of girls who were McKinleyites their sophomore year were quite a few Lehman girls who enthusiastically responded to the hockey call.

As in other classes, the junior players were divided into teams according to their ability and skill in playing the game. Three teams, A, B, and C, were selected.

The junior girls' A team matched with the senior A team put up the only close fight in the series of games played, losing to the seniors by a score of 4-3. Both the B and C teams failed to score in their games, the outcome being: senior B and junior B, 3-0, and senior C and junior C, 2-0.

The aim of every girl playing hockey is to be able to play well enough to be selected for the annual Army-Navy game. This year there were more juniors selected for the Army-Navy game than in any previous year which speaks well for the juniors.

ALTHOUGH they fought gamely and had much talent on their teams, lack of experience proved too much for the sophomore girls, who lost all of their hockey games this year. Also their final record was less impressive due to the fact that bad weather prevented their meeting the junior girls' teams. Four games were played in all.

The sophomore girls were divided into four teams A, B, C, and D, according to their ability, and the A team was the only one of these able to score against the seniors.

The sophomore A team was defeated by the senior A team 2-1, the sophomore B team was defeated by the senior B team 5-0, the sophomore C team was conquered by the senior A team 7-0, while the sophomore D team lost to the senior B team by a score of 3-0.

There were more than 100 sophomore girls who went out for hockey this year. As in the junior class, this is the first year that so many sophomores were capable enough to make the Army-Navy teams, seven girls being selected.

With two more years of opportunity to acquire experience and skill before them, the sophomores will no doubt become as successful as this years senior team.

SENIOR BOYS' TRACK

THE seniors scored a decisive victory over the junior and sophomore classes in the interclass track meet by outclassing them in practically every field. This year the seniors were outstanding in field events and in the dashes. The fine showing was possibly due to the large majority who made the varsity squad. Maurice Swimmer and Frye were predominate in the century and other dashes. Huff, a junior was a leading contestant in these events. Swimmer has been running the dashes since his first year at McKinley and is one of the teams strongest supporters.

In field events Jurkovic was outstanding in javelin throwing while Abdulla placed in the shot put.

The meets were held at Cooks field and Nimisilla park. The lack of a school field nearby has handicapped the tracksters somewhat but through the kind co-operation of Louisville, McKinley was given permission to practice on theirs.

Unlike other years, McKinley was strong in the field events and equally strong in the dashes and distance runs.

The meet consisted of ten events. These included, the century, the 220 yard dash, the mile and the 880 yard distance runs, and the 440. In the field events were the shot put, broad jump, the high jump, discuss, javelin throw, and pole vault.

JUNIOR BOYS' TRACK

INTRAMURAL tracksters from the junior class followed the usual procedure of previous years by finishing with second place laurels in the annual meet. They of course were beaten out by the seniors who displayed a strong team with plenty of talent and with many men of the varsity squad.

The junior team was mediocre in the field events but rather strong in the dashes, due to the fact that Jim Huff, century man on the varsity graced its lineup.

The sophomores finished a poor third, having placed only a few men in all the events.

The meet was composed of ten events; 100 yard and 200 yard dashes, 440 yard run, 880 yard relay, high jump, broad jump, shot put, discus and javelin throws and pole vault. The awarding of points was first place, 5 points; second place, 3 points; third place, 1 point. This method was followed in all events but the relay where first place received 8 points; second place, 5 points; and third place, 3 points.

Coach Charles Wright, taking the place of Ward E. Young who became ill during the latter part of the year, coached both varsity and intramural track with Mr. Aiken, athletic supervisor, at the head of activities.

SENIOR GIRLS' TENNIS

EVER increasing in popularity, tennis affords much healthful pleasure and keen competition to all girls interested in the sport. Although it has not been listed among the girls' sports as long as hockey, swimming, and basketball, still it is greatly looked forward to by the girls, and there are many participants.

The tennis tournament is open to all girls who understand the rules of the game. These girls, after having signed up, are scheduled to play against one another. The winners in each of these first matches then play against each other, and so on until the field of girls is finally eliminated to the quarter, semi-finals, and finals. The girls who play in the semi-finals of each class made up the doubles teams while the girls who play in the finals make up the singles team. The senior junior, and sophomore champions then compete with one another for the championship of the three grades. Last year Florence Smith won the championship, defeating Sophie Burnosky, the junior champion.

The matches are played at the city courts at Nimisilla park, which are reserved for several hours each evening after school for the girls.

Senior girls who participated in the tennis tournament this year were: Ardelle Coleman, Eileen Shea, Louise Ritzman, Doris DeYarmon, Rita Berger, Nora Shaheen, Betty Jones, Elizabeth Blemker, Mary Bender, Mary Clay, Jane Nyman, Doreen Smith, Velma Hauter, Ardie Feightner, Sophie Burnosky, Grayce Cook, Katherine Swope, Jean Greenham, Betty Bennett, Dorothy Altman, Grace Burdge, Helen Williams.

JUNIOR girls responded to the annual tennis call for tournament participants this year with a large number of enthusiastic players. There were about 29 girls who signed up to participate in the sport, more than the number signed up in either the senior or sophomore classes.

Miss Lynn, girls' gymnasium supervisor, was in charge of the tournament. After the girls had signed up to enter, they were scheduled to play in single matches. The winners in each of these matches were then scheduled to play against each other, and so on, until they were eliminated to the quarter, semi-finals and finals. Dates for playing all matches, except the finals, were arranged by the players themselves. A certain period of time was allowed in which to get these matches played, and if not played in that time, the girls were considered as defaulting, and were automatically dropped from the tournament.

All of the tournament matches were played at the city tennis courts located at Nimisilla park. The courts there were reserved for the girls several hours after school. Some of the matches were played during study halls, but the majority of them were played after school hours.

Many of the juniors went out for tennis in their sophomore year. Pauline Smith won the sophomore championship that year by defeating Elinor Davis, final contender for the championship.

SENIOR BOYS' GOLF

COACH Ellis Carter was again charged with the duties of organizing interclass golf, for which a great many junior and senior boys turned out to play. All the matches were held at Tam-O-Shanter public course as in previous years.

Every boy who signed up was given a chance to compete in the first elimination matches. These decided by virtue of lowest scores, the best eight men in each class. These groups then competed against each other in a series of eight matches and the team concluding with lowest scores received emblems.

It has been customary for the upperclassmen to emerge victorious with little effort due to their extra year's experience and practise, which indeed counts a great deal in the game of golf. However the seniors this year were somewhat vexed at the unexpected and determined competition afforded them by the junior team which as was the seniors graced with several members of the varsity squad.

This interclass competition was very popular with golf enthusiastic students because any boy playing a school match could do so at Tam-O-Shanter for ten cents per nine holes, a charge much reduced from ordinary rates. There were sixteen seniors who originally went out for this sport.

Stone, Siebert. Pulley, Ross.

JUNIOR BOYS' GOLF

INTRAMURAL golf competition can be carried on in school every year because there is little or no expense to the athletic association, the cost of play, the place, and the equipment being defrayed by the individual. Because of this sort of self-responsibility and because of lack of adequate transportation means to and from the golf course, not many junior boys took part in the matches, although those who represented their class did quite well.

The first elimination tournament got under way on April 19, at Tam-O-Shanter. There all the contestants were given opportunities to compete for positions on the class teams. The matches lasted through April and part of May.

Coach Carter had charge of varsity golf as well as intramural. In selecting his first team he observed the play and ability of the interclass contestants and those who showed unusual talent were given berths. In view of that opportunity each player did his best in the class competition so as to impress the coach. This added determination afforded close and interesting games all through the season. Undoubtedly the best part of the junior team this year will make next year's senior team.

Howard Summers, intramural student manager, assisted Mr. Carter in organizing the teams and keeping accurate records of elimination.

SENIOR INDOOR

BOYS intramural indoor was played this year for the first time since 1932. In spite of the fact that it was a new sport, an unusually large number of boys turned out for positions on the team. Several teams from the class were formed who played off in a competitive manner with teams from the other classes. The games were played during the last few weeks of school.

In accordance with the general expectations, the senior teams took the lead and seemed to be in a class all their own. It is not unusual that there should be a feeling of general enthusiasm for this sport because indoor ball is quite popular throughout the city as a summer sport, and because a great many boys spend their leisure summer time in this sport.

The work of organizing the teams was carried through by Coach Ellis Carter, who has had charge of all boys' intramural activities and by Howard Summers, who has been student manager for all intramural sports for boys.

The points earned by this sport will go to help determine which class is to consider itself the champion among classes for intramural sports for this year. Each team from each class will have a chance to play every team from each other class before the competition ends. Because the school has no field of its own for practice or play, the games had to be played on playground fields which were available at the time that the games were scheduled.

JUNIOR INDOOR

GREAT opportunity was afforded to members of the junior class of McKinley this year to get some good practice in indoor ball if they were interested in that field of endeavor. It is hoped that the soft ball sport which took on new life this year will be continued next year. In that case, the boys of the junior class will have a fine opportunity to become champions in the field, and should sweep everything before them.

The teams of the junior class put on a creditable showing against their opponents. They showed steady improvement as the season went on, and the members of the teams showed that they were mastering the fundamentals of the game. The interest of the students made this form of competition one of the enjoyables of the year.

It is hoped that the enthusiasm which was evident this year may be carried into next and that a foundation may be laid for a sport which will take its place with the other intramural activities.

The boys who appeared for the sport did not have a chance to show their full worth because of the late start, which was necessitated by the persistent cold weather, and by the early June closing of the school. The teams could not get early practice, either, because of the wet condition of the ground. Many of the boys will carry on the sport which was begun as an intramural venture and become members of the various church and sandlot teams which are to be organized again this summer.

CHEERLEADERS

JUST about half the enjoyment one receives in watching a high school football or basketball game is derived from the tense action afforded by the contesting teams the other half comes from helping to cheer your team on to victory. The cheerleaders at McKinley play leading roles in developing an enthusiastic school spirit.

This year the regular cheerleading team consisted of six students, two from each of the three classes. The two senior pepsters were Hugh Correll and Howard Satow. Those from the junior class were Libertore and Moore. Lloyd and Garry were the sophomore representatives. These boys were on the team in their junior years and kept their berths through the last year at the end of which they received letter awards for their services. The latter four acquired their positions through election by school assemblies where each contestant gave a sample of his wares and the winners were chosen by votes of hand clapping from the audience.

Part of this aggregation attended every varsity football game and vented its efforts to afford the teams moral support from the student body. No doubt the junior and sophomore cheerleaders will aspire to regular berths again next year and will help to develop a fine school spirit.

GIRLS' BOOSTER CLUB

AS usual the Girls' Booster club carried on its round of activities this year. The work was under the directorship of a new advisor, Miss Elizabeth Motschman. Officers for the year were Nancy Riley, president; Betty Bozman, vice-president; Helen Spice, secretary; and Jean Goodman, treasurer.

In order to increase and make more efficient the various fields of work of the club, the following five committee chairmen were selected: Ardelle Coleman, stunts; Alice Rickard, pencil selling; Betty Herbst, debate; Doris Schrecongost, girls' athletics; and Betty Bean, publicity. They were advised by the following faculty members; Miss Margaret Hillibish, Miss Esther Puterbaugh, and Miss Lillian Walton. Under this arrangement, more work was accomplished.

The cheerleaders were: Beatrice Keyes and Virginia Warner, seniors; Betty Lou Hudec and Mary Bast, juniors; and Betty Clatterbuck and Clara Needs, sophomores.

No football pencils were ordered this year, but 2000 basketball pencils were ordered and a contest to sell them was carried on. The following girls received prizes; Nora Shaheen, for selling the largest number; Susan Deal and June John tied for the largest number in the senior class; Lois Kirkland sold the most in the junior class, and Betty Hinton sold most in the sophomore class.

GIRLS' BOOSTER CLUB

SENIORS

Our victorious football team was loyally supported throughout the entire season by the Girls' Booster club section. During the season, two stunts were given. At the Massillon game the girls sat in the section in such a way as to form a large M with cardboard squares painted red on one side and orange on the other. At a given signal the cards were raised into position with the orange sides showing and the yell "Hello Massillon" was given. Later the red sides were held up and "On McKinley" was spelled.

At the Steubenville game while the band played "On McKinley" rows of red and black pom poms were waved in various unique formations.

The event of the year, as usual, was the party held November 17. All plans for the party followed the theme "A Century of Progress." Decorations, entertainment, costumes, and refreshments helped to create and maintain this atmosphere.

The party was officially opened by lighting the lights from the star Acturus, accompanied by a few words from the president. It was closed by the lowering of two flags of the Avenue of Flags. A program "Winks of a Century" was given during the intermission. It included a depicting of the Progress of Time, the Progress of Sports, and the Progress of Romance and Dancing. Prizes

SOPHOMORES

Three stunts were put on during the basketball season. The first one was given at the Massillon game. Marjorie Hale and Esther Kienzle were dressed in the garb of a tiger, and Louise Ritzman and Jane Brush were dressed to represent a bulldog. The two animals came on to the floor at the half. After acquainting themselves with the place, they engaged in a desperate battle. The bulldog marched off the floor as the victor, and after some assistance was given by the cheerleaders the tiger was able to wobble off, downcast with defeat. (This proved to be the prophetic outcome of the game.) At the Lorain game, a marching stunt was presented by 32 girls. In various marching formations, the girls spelled by means of cards, "McKinley Girls' Booster club," "Lorain, Canton says 'hello'," and in a single line formation "Come on, team, let's go."

Between the halves of the Dover game, what to our wondering eyes should appear but an alluring snake charmer enticing a most unusual snake, which with twistings and turnings meandered onto the floor, now and then pausing to cheer on McKinley. The snake charmer proved to be Ardelle Coleman, and the snake dance was staged by 25 girls.

The club is closing the year, with an increased balance in the treasury, a larger membership, and an unusual loyality and enthusiasm.

BOYS' BOOSTER CLUB

ALTHOUGH not active as a club, the Boys Booster club was really active at all the games in which the various teams of our school participated.

The membership this year was limited only to those who maintained a scholastic standing of 80 or above, and who were conscientious enough to support their school in its major activities. No dues were collected, but all members were required to sign a sportsmanship pledge whereby they forfeited their membership in the club if they did not live up to its high ideals.

At the beginning of the school term a contest was conducted by the club, the purpose of which was to select the best design for a membership card. This card is used by the members as their insignia and also serves as an admission ticket to the club's Booster section at the various games. This prize was won by Marion May who received a season football ticket.

Several meetings were held in the auditorium after school for the purpose of acquainting the boys with the different school songs and yells. These were led by the cheerleaders.

The club this year as in the past several years was under the able supervision of Mr. Bartlett.

SENIOR HI-Y, ALPHA BETA

ACTIVITIES are the life of any club, and the Senior Hi-Y club distinguished itself this year by a vigorous participation in many projects, a great many of which had never been attempted in former years. However, a mere report of activities cannot reveal the close fellowship which is the true inner spirit of this club.

The present officers took charge of the club during the last meeting of the year and sponsored the Farewell dance and breakfast to the graduating seniors. The council met throughout the summer at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Turkeyfoot lake. The Hi-Y helped 165 underprivileged boys to go for a short stay at camp by a gift of 175 dollars.

The first meeting of this year was held September 11, which was followed by a mixed steak fry at camp. Meanwhile prospective members were invited down to attend some of the meetings. Mr. Porter and Mr. Thomas delivered inspiring talks on religion and ideals on successive nights. The informal initiation of new members was enjoyed by all on October 30. Don Jacobs told of his sea adventures at the following meeting, and during the hundredth "Week of Prayer" books were distributed to the teachers.

At Hallowe'en, a barn dance was held in the Y gym. Forty Hi-Y members were ushers at the football games during the fall season. The club pledged its influence to prevent any unfortunate occurances such as had happened after the game with Steubenville. A mother-son banquet was sponsored at the time that the freshmen officers were installed.

Twenty senior boys and many juniors attended the conference which was held at Wooster. The club pledged 100 dollars, at this time, to the furtherance of the world fellowship movement. A little later, 30 dollars was pledged to the Canton Community fund. At the next meeting, Dr. R. E. Pfouts talked to the boys on big game hunting. During the Christmas season, Rev. Blohm, pastor of the First Lutheran church talked on Christmas in foreign lands. At this time, the Y. M. was decorated and each chapter got up a Christmas basket.

The Christmas season was ended by a Christmas dance to which the alumni were invited. At the following meeting, Mr. Robert Marriott, of the Repository staff, gave an interesting talk on newspaper work.

On New Year's morning, the fathers of the fellows joined them in a morning of fellowship, during which there was a report of the activities of the year just past, followed by a volleyball game and a swim in the Y pool. The next week prospective junior members were sought and invited to attend a meeting. The informal initiation of these boys was held on March 5, and the formal initiation on March 26. The initiations have been enhanced by distinguished robes which the officers of the chapters wore.

SENIOR HI-Y, PHI BETA

Another bit of outside work which was started by the Hi-Y this year was a gift of 100 dollars to the Canton Scholarship foundation, which helps out deserving students who desire to go to college and do not have the funds necessary.

An original project this year was the construction of a rifle range at the Y. M. C. A. A tournament in this was run off between the chapters of the Hi-Y, and the members who were successful in the tournament had their names engraved on a cup which is to be kept at the Y. The three most proficient were given individual medals. Also, during the winter, the different chapters engaged in a basketball tournament, which brought forth some vigorous competition. Every member of the club participated in the ping-pong tournament which was held during the early spring. The seven best in this game have their names inscribed on a cup which will be kept at the Y. and the three most proficient members were awarded medals.

The presidents of all the Hi-Y chapters in the city were given pointers on efficiency in leading meetings by Mr. Hoffman, a prominent lawyer, at a special banquet held for the presidents at the Y. M. C. A. A delegation of 30 members went to a banquet in Akron, Ohio, on March 8, to hear Dr. Harmon speak on the activities of the Y. M. C. A. in foreign countries.

SENIOR HI-Y, TAU BETA

On Thursday, April 26, the senior and sophomore clubs and the fathers of the members were the guests of Dr. Hyde, at the Massillon State hospital. Dr. Hyde, who is in charge of the hospital conducted a special lecture on the "Challenge to Right Living" on that occasion.

The traditional spring formal and the Farewell dance to the seniors were on the regular schedule of social events for the year. New officers were elected and installed late in the year and the farewell picnic was held on the last day of school.

Red caps and emblems and special stationery were available to the members of the chapter throughout the year. The service work which formed such a large part of the organizations activities was made possible through the sales of ice cream pies, at basketball games. Members of the club were on hand at offering the pies for sale.

During the year a trumpet quartet and a singing quartet were formed. These groups of boys furnished music for the regular weekly meetings and for the special occasions. The work of the club has been one of service, both to the members themselves and to boys in other parts of the world.

ART LEAGUE

WHETHER students are taking art or are merely interested in it, they may become members of the Art League. This club has been active for several years at McKinley and is supervised by Miss Key Wenrick. During the year, a number of interesting speakers and artists were presented.

At one of the first meetings, Mr. James Rutledge, a Canton artist, who has studied in the art schools, both in Chicago and in New York, presented many of his etchings and explained their making. He contrasted the works of Gour with those of Rembrandt. Mr. Gillmore, a former art teacher of McKinley, presented a slide movie of beautiful Ohio scenes, which he has collected during his many tramps through Ohio beauty spots. He also showed some of his pen and water color sketches of Ohio Landscapes. Mr. Nellis, a member of the Goodwin Engraving plant, at a later meeting, explained the four color process of printing.

A Christmas party at the Canton Woman's club and a spring picnic were the only social activities of the group during the year.

The club was responsible for bringing to McKinley the Scholastic magazine exhibition of high school students' works.

Officers for the year were Sanford Wallock, president at the beginning of the year, who was succeeded by Mary Beatty, vice president when Sanford left the city. Betty Jacobs was secretary, and Edward Fisher was treasurer. He was succeeded by Dorothy Stockdale.

BIOLOGY CLUB

BIOLOGY club this year was comprised of 25 members most of whom were sophomores who were anxious to improve their knowledge of biology. Like the other A clubs, the Biology club met once a month. Its members studied living plants and animals. At each meeting a program of interest was featured. Professor Bangham of the College of Wooster biology department addressed the members on the "Migration of Animals".

Charles Keagy, a club member, explained micro-photography to the club and showed several micro-photograph pictures which he had taken. On February 28, Mr. Glenn Goss of our own biology department spoke on the subject, "Former ages of the earth as shown in the fossil remains which have been found in rocks". He described that life from the simplest to the most complex of structures. On April 18, the club had a trip through the Molly Stark sanitarium. This proved an interesting experience.

Two social affairs were held. An informal party was held in the music room on December 6. Games and dancing provided the entertainment. A picnic for May 23, was the final event planned by the club.

This year's officers were Robert Rohn, president; Helen Spice, vice president; Harold Appleton, secretary; and Robert Wilson, treasurer. The faculty chairman was Mr. Lanning. The advisory staff included the other biology teachers, Mr. Swan, Mr. Pratt, Mr. Wright, Mr. Goss, and Mr. Riley.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

CHEMISTRY club is an active organization of McKinley High School and ranks as an A club. It is composed of those students who are taking either chemistry or physics and wish to enlarge their knowledge of the phenomena of every day happenings in the scientific world.

Meetings are held monthly at which time a speaker is presented or a trip to some local manufacturing plant is planned. There the student is enlightened on the industrial process which is applied for the making of that particular product. This year the chemistry club members visited such industrial centers as The Allegheny Oil Refinery Co., Wilson Rubber Co., and Bell Telephone Co.

Mr. Glen Goss gave a lecture on geology which was interesting and very educational. On another occasion the members were invited to attend a lecture by Dr. Perrine. His talk on sound was given under the auspices of the Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Perrine demonstrated the operating of many intricate devices in his lecture.

Other meetings were shaped in the fashion of instructive talks by Mr. Fretz. These also were quite interesting but beneficial to school work.

Mr. Fretz was advisor for the club. The officers for the past year were: Charles Willis, president; Dorothy Gross, secretary; and Robert Baird, Treasurer.

CRAFTSMANSHIP CLUB

McKINLEY High school Craftsmanship club was organized three years ago by Mr. G. E. Fry, instructor in cabinet making. This club was formed with the intention of bringing "technically-minded" boys together, and to revive in boys the delight of making things, as near perfect as possible, with their hands. To these ends the efforts of Mr. Fry have been highly successful. The exhibition in the front lobby at the 1933 open-house, acclaimed by some to be the finest display of hobby ingenuity, is mute evidence of this fact.

Ship models, airplane models, bows, embossed and inlaid gun stocks, and carvings of all types, show what thought and painstaking care these boys take in their work. Several certificates from the Fisher Craftsman Guild have been awarded to members, and these are regarded as the highest craft honor which a boy can receive.

Numerous trips have been made by the group to such establishments as Ole King Cole, Mullins Manufacturing Co., Republic Stamping and Enameling Co., Guggenhiem Institute, Goodyear, Akron Airport, and Bell Telephone Co.

The officers this year are, Robert Hoffman, president; Roy Hoke, vice-president; Leonard Dandridge, secretary; and Robert Stuckey, treasurer. The advisors are, Miss Ruff, Mr. Fry and Mr. Rickert.

DEBATE CLUB

McKINLEY debaters and those interested in all forms of public speaking form the nucleus of the debate club. The club supports the debate teams and promotes the speech program at McKinley. Meetings were held once a month after school. A unique program was arranged by the executive committee for the whole year, the titles of the meetings spelling the word 'debate'. Those titles were; Departure, Expectations, Beginnings, Action, Twilight, and Evening. Another accomplishment of this year's club was the printing of programs for club members.

Under the supervision of Miss Florence Willett, debate coach, the club completed its twelth year of service to the school. Classed as an "A" club, it maintained a high scholastic standard and promoted habits of promptness and dependability.

Opportunity to display forensic ability was afforded each member at some time during the year. By appearing on the programs, the members gained experience in oral expression of their own thoughts. Declamation and debates rounded out the program for t[illegible] year.

Officers who guided the club in its activities were Lowell Stine, president; Louis Maggiore, vice-president; Betty Delp, secretary; Lynn Pugh, treasurer; and Jane Gruber, censor. The publicity of the organization was handled by Grace Burdge and Margaret Casteel, reporters.

FRENCH CLUB

FRENCH club has been one of the favorite clubs of the foreign language students for the last several years. The club aims to provide an opportunity for the use of practical French and to give the club members a picture of French people and of their lives. Programs were planned to further this aim. "La Marseillaise" and other French songs were learned and sung. One act plays and monologues, which were instructive as well as entertaining, were presented by different members of the organization. Little English is used in the working out of the programs.

As an "A" club, membership is open to all third and fourth year students and to second year students who have maintained an average of 85. Membership was also thrown open at the beginning of the second semester to those French 1 students whose average for the semester had been 90.

Mardi Gras, that widely known French festival was celebrated by members of the club with a dinner on February 13. This was held at the Y. W. C. A. The Program and decorations were in keeping with the spirit of the season.

Another social event was the annual spring picnic which was held at Lake O' Springs, where the club members enjoyed games and swimming.

Officers for the year were; Don Paris, president; Jean Snyder, secretary; Ted Sowd, treasurer; and Jessie Brenet, historian. Miss Dorothy Vogelgesang was the chairman of the advisors which is made up of all the teachers in the French department.

FRIENDSHIP CLUB

YOUTH Faces the New World, was the theme worked out this year by the Friendship club. This theme proved inspirational for all the members for the club is active in service, social work, vocational guidance, and world fellowship. Meetings are held weekly at the Y. W. C. A. Once each month the girls spend the regular meeting period in group meetings where each girl may get better acquainted with her own particular hobby.

Under the direction of the ring group, a pageant was given in the fall for the purpose of introducing the girls to the members of the cabinet. This group also has charge of the awarding of Girl Reserve rings to those girls whose outstanding work has merited some special recognition.

The annual faculty tea was held in February. Women members of the faculty were guests of the girls. At this time a special program was put on by the dramatic group of the club.

Late in the winter, the club held its recognition service at which time each girl was made to feel that she was a distinct part of the club.

The club sponsored three strictly social functions for the members. Two dances were held, one in the winter and another in the late spring. A picnic was also held in the spring.

Miss Edith Cutshall, secretary for girls' work at the Y. W. C. A. was the sponsor for the club. Officers for the year were; Jean Anne Johnston, president; Betty Perdue, vice president; Elizabeth Blemker, secretary; and Dorothy Steiner, treasurer.

LATIN CLUB

THIS year has again proven a successful one for the Latin club of McKinley High school. "Comites Latinae" as the club is called is rated as an A club and only those students who have an average of 85 in Latin and have completed two years study of Latin are entitled to membership.

The object of the club is not only to entertain the members but also to further their knowledge in the study of Roman life, customs, and language. The programs were under the direction of the Latin teachers each of whom had charge of arranging at least one. The programs consisted of talks, music, games, and conundrums. At one meeting the club was privileged to hear of Wooster College who gave an illustrated lecture on "The Granduer that was Rome." The Christmas program was also an interesting one in which members gave talks on the Saturnalia, the Roman Christmas and Christmas in other foreign lands. An octet sang "Silent Night" in Latin. The club holds its meetings once a month.

Miss McConnell was faculty advisor of the club and the officers for this year follows: Mary Alice Hall, president; Osborne Keeler, vice president; Mariam Yutzey, secretary; Robert Bryden, treasurer; and Jane Drake, reporter.

LEADERS' CLUB

LEADERS' club has completed its ninth year as a McKinley club and its fourth as a national organization. During that time its members have built its reputation as one of the most desirable and popular clubs at McKinley.

From about 100 girls who tried out this year, the old members voted in 45 new Leaders. After a probation period they were formally accepted into the club. This brought the membership to 80.

Although it is essentially an athletic club, its members must possess qualities of good citizenship, be reliable and responsible, and be leaders in many phases of school life.

Leaders must maintain a gym or swimming grade of 85 and passing grades in academic subjects. They must participate in at least one sport and be qualified to teach a gym or swimming class.

A weiner roast at High Mill Park initiated the club's social program. There was a holiday dance at Hotel Northern and a spring dance.

As in previous years the Leaders presented a spectacular drill in the gym exhibition.

Officers this year were: Genevieve Nyman, president; Jean Klingstedt, vice-president; Tessie Bakter, secretary; Marie Zerbe treasurer; Mary Jo Haynam, social chairman, and Ardelle Coleman, publicity chairman. Miss Lynn and Miss Sharff acted as advisors.

First Row—Glenn, Cole, Bean, Evans, Salisbury, Shoup. Second Row—Tarr, Huberty, Decker, Green, Schmidt, Davis. Third Row—MacWalter Hauck, Katz, Shiltz.,

MODERN WRITERS' CLUB

YOUNG book worms found a real treat this year in attending the regular meetings of the Modern Writers' club. It is one of McKinley's oldest clubs and from its beginning, the school has always shown an intense interest in its activities. To Miss Mary Eddy is given the credit for the organization of the group. The object was "To seek the companionship of books and their authors".

Because the club had fewer members this year than in other years, many discussions and debates were given. Toward the end of the year, the club was entertained at the Canterbury-Craine Book House, where Mrs. Canterbury gave a talk on modern books.

During the year, the works of Eugene O'Neill were reviewed at several meetings, after which the club had a debate for and against his method of writing. Other authors studied were Harvey Allen, Pearl Buck, Sinclair Lewis, and Phil Strong.

The club meetings have given new interest to the members as a result of their study this year. They have made the members acquainted with authors about whom they had known little.

Officers who were in charge this year are; Betty Bean, president; Betty Salisbury, vice president; Rebecca Evans, secretary; and Andrew Canterbury, treasurer. Miss Katherine Mack was the advisor for this year, and directed the club's study.

PRESS CLUB

FOR those interested in newspapers and other phases of journalism, Press club offers the opportunity to become better acquainted with this type of work. The club was organized last year as an A club and has become one of the most popular at McKinley. The membership is limited to 65 members and only those with a grade of 85 in English or journalism and all other grades passing, may belong.

Activities of the club were numerous. At one meeting members made a visit to the Repository where they saw the "peach" edition run through the presses. Early in the spring the club made a trip to the Cleveland Plain Dealer plant where they saw the Sunday comic section run.

Among the speakers heard by the club members were Mr. Lester McKrae, a member of the Repository staff, who told of some of his experiences in newspaper work and Mr. Chester Lyle, a member of McKinley faculty who spoke about printing as an art.

Social affairs held by the club included two dances, one of which was held during the Christmas vacation and the other in the spring.

The officers of the club this year were: Gretchen Heingartner, president; Annabelle Swan, vice-president; Jean Greenham, secretary; and Wilson Frye, treasurer. Miss Marguerite Bair was the faculty advisor.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

TWENTY five students who maintained an average of 85 in English IV formed the membership of the Shakespeare club. The club was organized in 1916 for the purpose of encouraging the appreciation of the classics and modern drama. It has remained one of the popular clubs throughout the years of its existence, and is especially interesting to those students who desire to exercise their histrionic ability.

Nearly every member participated in one of the programs. After the election of officers, two informal initiations were held in the music room during November.

Fern Goshen, Dorothy Stockdale, and Herman Glick presented a play before the Canton Women Teachers' club in December entitled "Buying Culture." They later presented it at one of the regular meetings.

In February, the club was entertained with a short play entitled "Paradise," which was presented by Dorothy Steiner, Richard Luckring, Robert Bryden, and Erma Whitacre.

Monologues presented by Dan Ray and Robert Bryden in March were subjected to constructive criticism by the club members.

A hilarious pantomine entitled "The Madame Bounces In" in which Bob Turnbull and Arlene Sundheimer were the hero and heroine and Elizabeth Blemker the reader was presented at the last regular meeting.

The officers for this year were: Robert Erlanger, president; Elizabeth Blemker, secretary; and Fern Goshen, treasurer. Miss Marble, advisor.

SOCIAL SCIENCE CLUB

SOCIAL Science club was organized nine years ago, to stimulate interest in civic, national, and international questions. The membership is limited to students of the social sciences who maintain an average of 85. This year has been one of the most successful the club has known.

Many things of interest happened this year. The first event of importance was the Armistice day program with three members of the faculty as speakers, Mr. Aiken, Mr. Porter, and Mr. Young. The McKinley High school orchestra played a medley of overseas selections at these assemblies.

There were five special meetings during the year. The first was a student program at which Margaret Jacobs, Caroline Fretz, Naomi Snyder, and Roy Hoke were the student speakers. The second was a book review given by Mrs. Beulah Canterbury. At another, Mrs. Stuart Yeo told of her life in the Philippines. At one, Rabbi Latz discussed current history. The fifth was a joint meeting with the Travel club, at which time Dr. Heinrichs, a missionary in India for 30 years, gave an illustrated lecture on India.

Two social events, one a Christmas party held at the Canton Woman's club on December 21, and the other, a spring outing were held.

The officers of the club for the year were George Gerber, president; Margaret Jacobs, vice president; Louise Lowry, secretary; Thomas Evans, treasurer; Ruth Dickerhoof, auditor; and Roy Hoke, chairman of the program committee.

SOPHOMORE Dramatic club was again organized this year under the supervision of Miss Florence Hill. The members study drama and play production to prepare them for participation in the junior and senior class plays.

Approximately 100 sophomores tried out for membership at the beginning of the year, and of this number 30 were accepted. Four others were later admitted to the club.

Interesting monthly meetings were held throughout the school year. Each meeting was in charge of a committee who presented interesting one-act plays, sketches, dialogues, and monologues.

Roll call was made an interesting item at the meetings. Members answered by naming a favorite play or a bit of news about drama.

It has been the custom each year for the club to provide entertainment for the sophomore class parties. At the first party "The Blue Teapot" and "The Silver Swan" were presented. The club furnished the program at the second party with the presentation of "More Than a Million".

During the holidays the club held a party at Miss Hill's home.

The faculty advisors were Miss Hill, Miss Coffman, Miss Galbreath, Miss Wilson, Miss Jones, Mr. Cherry, and Miss Gruber. The officers of the club were Victor Glenn, president; Wilbur Rogers, vice-president; Beatrice Cottle, secretary; and Oscar Mees, treasurer.

STAGECRAFT CLUB

STAGECRAFT club is one of the most active clubs of McKinley. The membership this year was the largest it has ever been, consisting of twenty-one members. The work of these boys is to construct and shift scenery and produce the proper lighting effects for all dramatic productions and parties in the school.

The single stage setting for the senior class play, "The Royal Family," was the first major task this year. This setting required an upper stage with elaborate work. The second production was the opera, "The Bohemian Girl" by Balfe, presented by the Senior Choral club. Five different scenes were required for this. The last task was for the junior class play, "The Fool." Four scenes were constructed for this play, the most difficult being an elaborate interior of a church. Hard and tedious work was necessary for all these productions and the club performed its tasks very capably. Work was also done for the play tryouts, the class parties, and for class night.

The club held its annual outing which was very successful in the spring.

The officers for the year were: George Figley, president; William Harding, vice-president; Harold Fair, secretary-treasurer; Lewis Skelton, chief electrician; and Robert Garmy, assistant electrician. Miss Martha Bozman was the faculty advisor and supervised all the work.

STAMP CLUB

LAST year Stamp club was organized for the first time. The purpose of the club is to interest students in collecting stamps and also, to give further information to the members about various stamps. The regular meetings are devoted to the study of old stamps, stamps that are new, and those which are about to be issued. At some of the meetings a game called "Stampo" was played. This game is quite entertaining, and at the same time adds to their knowledge of stamps. First day covers are attracting much attention at the club meetings this year.

The biggest venture of the club this year was their display at the stamp exhibition of the McKinley club at the Hotel Onesto on November 29. One frame of mint commemoratives in blocks was prepared by the club. Jerry Hawk did the art work. He also had a display of his own air mail stamps at the exhibit.

The officers for the year were William Merriman, president; Ray Kline, vice president; Paul Stasko, secretary; and Jerry Hawk, treasurer. Mr. Leist is the faculty advisor of the club.

The club would like to enlarge and hopes that more girls of the school will join next year.

First Row— Harold, Webb, Flemming, Fretz, Derfer, Finger, Harp. Second Row—Ford, Cassidy, Loomis, Collins, Sizick, Schlabach. Third Row—Mr. Fretz, Hoke, Walker.

TRAVEL CLUB

VIEWS of distant countries and strange people with their different modes of life are afforded students who are members of Travel club. This is accomplished by talks and motion pictures accompanied by lectures.

Talks on different countries were given at several meetings by members of the faculty. Miss Zurcher discussed in an interesting manner, Switzerland and the home life of the Swiss. Miss McNary spoke about her trip to Alaska. She also showed the pupils many interesting pictures which were taken during the trip. Miss Eddy told the club members some of her experiences while traveling in Nova Scotia. At a joint meeting held with the Latin club Dr. Cowles spoke on Rome and at a joint meeting with the Social Science club Dr. Heinrichs talked on India. Both lectures were illustrated with pictures.

The social event of the year was a party held in May. It was open to the members of other clubs. Travel club is a B club and all students with passing grades may join.

The officers of the club for the year were Josephine Sizick, president; Richard Walker, vice president; Virginia Harold, treasurer; and Ethel Finger, secretary. The club is under the sponsorship of Mr. C. W. Fretz who is the club advisor.

DEBATE TEAM

WITH the defeat of Barnesville, McKinley Debaters, under the capable direction of Miss Florence N. Willett, launched another season of forensic activity in Canton. Decisions were dropped to Wooster, Minerva, St. Clairsville, and Erie East. Victories were also registered over New Philadelphia and Erie East. Two non-decision debates were held, teams from Ravenna and Beach City being scheduled.

The personnel of the teams included: Jane Gruber, Sam Krugliak, and James Strauch, affirmatives; and Elvan Kintner, Louise Maggiore, and Dick Schumacher, negatives. Wilson Snyder replaced Elvan Kintner later in the season. The high standard of sportsmanship established in former years was maintained by this year's teams.

As a climax to the season of varied success, McKinley's forensic students participated in the State Forensic meet held at Kent, April 12-14. Fourteen from Canton registered. Those participating were: Jean Finefrock and Jack Klein, dramatic declamation; Marie Olmstead and Harriett Courtright, humorous declamation; Jane Gruber and Dick Schumacher, extemporaneous speaking; Lynn Pugh and Sam Krugliak, original oratory; and Lynn Pugh and Roland Showalter, oratorical declamation. As an alternate, Morton Grossman competed at Kent in oratorical declamation.

Lowell Stine and Lynn Pugh acted as student managers under the direction of Mr. Weedman and Mr. Vance, faculty supervisors.

QUILL AND SCROLL

QUILL and Scroll is the international honorary society for high school journalists. It was organized to encourage good work in high school journalism. There are chapters in foreign countries as well as in nearly every state in the union.

To be elected, a student must be a junior or senior, must be in the upper third of his class, must have done acceptable work on the school publications, and must be recommended by his faculty advisor.

The members of the organization receive a magazine entitled "Quill and Scroll" which solves practical problems in journalism, gives points on publications, and sponsors a number of creative contests.

Each year the newspapers and annuals throughout the country are judged by the society and are ranked according to their merit.

This year there are 21 members of the publication staffs who have been elected to Quill and Scroll. They are: Tom Bartel, Wilson Frye, Ann Pratt, Jean Greenham, William Pfouts, and Marvel Whiteleather of the Annual staff; Louise Ritzman, Annabelle Swan, Waneeta Ross, Vera Roshong, Roger Sandman, Ethel Langanke, Gretchen Heingartner, Robert Hatfield, Howard McFarland, Robert Cordray, and Nancy Riley of the Times staff; and Clarence Marks, Eileen Shea, Andrew Canterbury, and Beatrice Keyes of the Business Staff.

One present member of the organization, Louise Ritzman, achieved the honor during her junior year because of outstanding work in the journalistic field.

IN spite of the fact that McKinley was entirely different from the junior high schools, and considerably more difficult than they, many sophomores managed to attain the high scholastic standing of an average of 90% or more for the first semester. Although this required hard work and constant effort, many sophomores proved they were as capable of high scholastic standing as were the seniors or juniors.

There were 64 sophomores in the list who received as a reward for their high achievement their names in the McKinley Times. Out of this 64, 41 of these were girls. The lists were published at the end of each six weeks.

Five sophomore girls attained the high average of 95 or more. These were considered excellent because of the difficulties a sophomore faces in her first year at McKinley High School.

These sophomores who received these averages should try to keep up this work as they have done through the first semester of their sophomore years, because in her senior year a student is rewarded for her zealous effort in many ways. They will some day have to fall into the places which the other students have vacated. Those who have attained these high averages are the most rewarded. One of the best honors which will come to many of these girls is membership in National Honor Society.

SOPHOMORE BOYS WITH 90%

SOMETIMES it is thought that students who work hard at studies and get good grades do not receive enough credit. We give letters to athletes and pins to members of organizations and other awards of merit but the scholar often goes unnoticed. The scholastic standing of a school is what ranks it with the highest.

This year the sophomore class has shown up quite well in maintaining high averages. There have been about 64 sophomores who kept an average of 90 for the first semester. Of these 23 were boys. Several sophomore boys maintained an average of 95. This was quite good, considering that it takes quite a while to become accustomed to a new school, new teachers, and new regulations. McKinley grades on a different basis from what the junior high schools do.

Many of these boys have gone out for different varsity and intramural sports. They belong to clubs and are active class members.

To maintain these standings requires a great deal of hard work but everyone is paid for hard work. When they are juniors and seniors the high class offices and positions are filled mostly by this group. Members of National Honor Society are chosen from them and athletes who aspire to make National Athletic Honor Society are ones with high grades.

First Row—Coleman, Steiner, Lytle, Blemker. Second Row—Burdge, Perdue, Hay, Whippel, Johnson, Greenham, Goodman, Haynam, Huber, Ungashick. GIRLS' SERVICE LEAGUE

AT the end of the junior year girls who have maintained an average of 90 or above throughout the year automatically become members of the Girls' Service League.

The object of the club is to help others in every way possible and at all times to put service before self.

The officers elected at the beginning of this year were Dorothy Steiner, president, Ruth Lytle, vice-president; Elizabeth Blemker, secretary; and Ardelle Coleman, treasurer. Miss Clark was the faculty advisor.

During the first week of school members of the club served as guides to help the sophomores find their way around the building.

At Christmas time a large Christmas basket was filled with sufficient food for a fine dinner and was given to a needy family.

Also during the Christmas season a program was presented before the ladies of the Old Ladies Home. A short play was enacted and several musical numbers were presented. Favors were given to each of the ladies.

At the end of the school year the senior members gave a party for the newly selected junior members.

Each new member is assigned one or more little sisters from the coming sophomore class whom she is to acquaint with the building before the next school year begins.

HALL GUARDS

HALL guard work has been a tradition in McKinley for the last few years. The guard duty is to protect halls from outside intruders and to check on wandering students. Often a room may be empty and an individual may decide to help himself to whatever the room offers. The hall guard then has the duty of notifying the student to go to the place where he should be at that time.

Hall guard chairmen are chosen during the latter part of their junior year so that they may be trained for their work when their own senior year opens. These juniors work with the seniors who have had a year's experience and get ready to assume command of the halls. There is one chairman for each period of the day. It is his duty to see that every guard station is properly taken care of.

To assist with the work, four guards are placed at the four corners of each floor. Additional ones are placed at the information desk at the front entrance. These guards have the duty of stamping the slips which all those students who are legitimately excused from a class or a study hall must carry. They take care of any unusual occurance in the halls. Those at the information desk, answer any questions which may be asked and direct strangers to the office where they may get slips which will give them permission to go to any part of the building.

The chairmen have as their advisor, Mr. O. V. Boone. He helps them with the problems that confront them. He also interpets the rules which the guards are expected to follow.

BUSINESS STAFF

IN the history of the McKinleyite and the Canton McKinley Times, the business staff has had few years as successful as this has been. This was due to the fine co-operation of the student body with the members of the business staff. It has been the duty of this staff to finance the publications, by getting subscriptions and advertising. They have also had to see that the publications were properly distributed after they were received.

The problem this year has been difficult because of the publication of the Times every week. This has necessitated more effort in the collection of advertising, and in the sale of extra copies.

The staff has put in a lot of working hours to get their task accomplished. They have given most of their home room periods and every ninth bell, as well as much time after 3:30.

Seniors of the staff included Andrew Canterbury, business manager; Clarence Marks, assistant business manager; Burton Cohen, advertising manager; Eileen Shea, circulation manager; Margaret Jacobs, secretary; and Beatrice Keyes, Howard Summers, and Cledus Reed, assistants in the different departments.

Members of the junior class who worked with the staff were Sarah Novick, Berdine Morris, Bob Luntz, Steve Skubik, Bill Merriman, and William Moegling. Mr. Fred L. Leist was advisor to the staff.

EDITORIAL STAFF

LAST year it was thought that McKinley's two publications could not be improved upon but they have been. This has been a very successful year for the publication department. For the first time since it was established, four years ago, the McKinley Times was put out weekly. The staff tried to give an accurate picture of the most important events of school life. The Times was published from September to June except during school vacations.

Those who worked on the Times were: Louise Ritzman, editor-in-chief; Annabelle Swan, Robert Clapper and Howard McFarland, page editors; Vera Roshong, editorials; Gretchen Heingartner and Philip George, sports; Waneeta Ross, music; Ethel Langanke, debate; Robert Hatfield, clubs; George Phelps, Robert Cordray, Ardelle Coleman, and Herman Glick, general news; and Nancy Riley, art work. Norma King, Estelle Coluce, and Hazel Matheson were the typists.

The annual staff also has done something different in putting out a book in school colors. Their aim again was to have first class rating for the McKinleyite.

Those on the Annual staff include Tom Bartel, editor-in-chief; Ann Pratt, associate editor; Jean Greenham, associate editor; Wilson Frye, photographer; Sam Blue, assistant photographer; Eleanor Evans, and Charles Willis, sport section; and Marvel Whiteleather and William Pfouts, artists. Mary Alice Stevens was the typist.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

THE Royal Family, a satire on early life of the famous Barrymore family by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber was presented December 8, and 9, by the class of 1934. The cast of characters afforded excellent opportunity for devéloping unusual talent. The production was given under the direction of Miss Iris Haverstack.

The story of the play dates far back into the days when Mrs. Sidney Drew, John Barrymore's mother, was yet living.

The Cavendish family comprises three generations. First, there is Fanny Cavendish, wife of Aubrey Cavendish, the first actor of his day, who at the age of seventy is planning her tour for the coming season. She is a grand old lady and attracts her family with her sharp sarcasm and wit which has the very epitome of three generations removed. This role was portrayed by Genevieve Nyman.

There is her brother Herbert Dean, a pompous player now in his decline; but who still has hopes of a later career. This part was played by George Gerber.

Julie, her daughter, at the crest of her career as a Broadway star, was taken by Mary Jo Haynam.

Tony, her son, taken by Daniel Ray, having forsaken the stage for Hollywood rushes home to escape a breach of promise suit, only to flee to Europe to escape the attention of a Polish actress. Later he returns from his Oriental expedition.

First Row— Hauter, Wolfe, Steiner, Burdge. Second Row— Hogan, Fretz, Bryden.

A grandaughter, Gwen, played by Betty Berkey, just building important roles, jolts the family by marrying a social leader, Perry Stewart played by George Phelps. She forsakes the stage only to find later that she is sorry for this and returns.

Herbert Dean's sophisticated wife, Kitty Lemoyne is played by Donna Cramer. Like her husband she should have retired long before but still wants to carry on.

Oscar Wolfe, the producer who has tolerated the temperament of the family for years, is characterized by Andrew Canterbury.

Gilbert Marshall, a wealthy mine owner of South America, who is seeking the hand of Julie throughout the play is enacted by Russell Hammond.

The part of the valet was taken by George Purece. The busy Swedish maid is characterized by Betty Bean.

McDermott, Julie's trainer who aided her in keeping fit is played by Robert Turnbull.

Other roles were taken by Edward Hogan as hallboy, Grace Burdge as bellhop, Velma Hauter as redcap, Dorothy Steiner as page, Robert Bryden as chauffeur, Carolyn Fretz as Gunga and Gertrude Wolfe as Miss Peake, the nursemaid.

The stage setting which was very unusual was furnished by the Stagecraft club under the direction of Miss Martha Bozman.

First Row— Hausen, Rogers, Keefe, Cross, Kilgore. Second Row— Howell, Matejka, Pulley, Denton, Thompson.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

UNDER the direction of Miss Haverstack, the junior class presented "The Fool" by Channing Pollock on April 27 and 28. The play, an intensely dramatic one, requiring an unusual amount of talent, was portrayed with alacrity.

Throughout the story is the question whether the hero, Daniel Gilchrist, is a fool in his efforts to practice unceasingly the golden rule in spite of universal opinions of people he confronts. The influentials in the church in which he is pastor disapprove of him, and he is forced to resign, and is spurned by Clare Jewett, his finacee who marries Jerry Goodkind because of her love of luxury.

Gilchrist then tries to settle a labor strike at the Black River coal mines, working for Mr. Goodkind a self-made man. In seeking justice for the laborers, however, he is misunderstood, and resigns.

He then spends his time in social work at "Over-Coat Hall" called that because of Gilchrist's generosity.

When everything is going against him, Mr. Goodkind trying to prove him mentally incompetant, Clare Jewett, the girl he loved, trying to lower his ideals and the people Gilchrist had been helping, revolting. Mary Margaret, a little crippled girl, suddenly regains the power to walk, this frightening the mob.

First Row—Frederick, Wallick, Keller, Assel, Mizer, Bozman. Second Row—Vogley, Tilden, Willis, Sowd, Groenke.

The last scene finds Daniel at last successful Mr. Goodkind offers him another position which he refuses.

In rehearsals, Miss Haverstack used two casts, A. and B. of equal ranking. By this method more players were given chances to portray leading parts.

In listing the casts, the players in the A cast will be named before the B cast players. The cast included: Mrs. Gilliam, Margaret Assel, Betty Mizer; Mrs. Thornbury, Vivienne Wallick, Betty Keller; Dilly Gilliam, Betty Bozman, Henrietta Hansen; Mr. Barnaby, Elmer Tilden, James Denton; Mrs. Tier, Helen Cross, Wilda Frederick; Dr. Wadham, John Thompson, Dean Howell; Mr. Benfield, Wm. Credit is also due the stagecraft club, under the direction of Miss Bozman, for making the sets, which were difficult and well-done. Mr. Wright was the sales manager.

SENIOR Council assists in making student government a successful institution of McKinley High school and succeeds in being one of its most useful and progressive organizations. Every senior section was represented by a councilman and an alternate, chosen early in the year. These councilmen, by their action on matters of concern to the class and to McKinley maintained a valuable relationship between the faculty and student body.

The council was responsible for the election of class officers, the sale of class play tickets, the collection of class dues, and the plans of the senior parties held in November, February, and April. All senior activities were under the supervision of the council.

In addition, this group took a new step in helping to abolish the spirit of rowdyism prevalent after football games of the earlier athletic season.

Throughout the year the council enjoyed the co-operation of the class officers, who were James Strauch, president; Nancy Riley, vice president; Marvel Whiteleather, secretary; and Tom Shipley, treasurer.

Meetings were conducted under the guidance and advice of Mr. Lloyd Swam, who was also chairman of the class guardians. This year guardians were Mr. Baker, Mr. Bartlett, Miss Thelma Bowman, Miss Wilson, Miss Perry, Miss Vogelsang, Mr. Angrove, Miss Hill, Miss Mason and Miss Ruff.

DECORATING AND ANNOUNCEMENT COMMITTEE

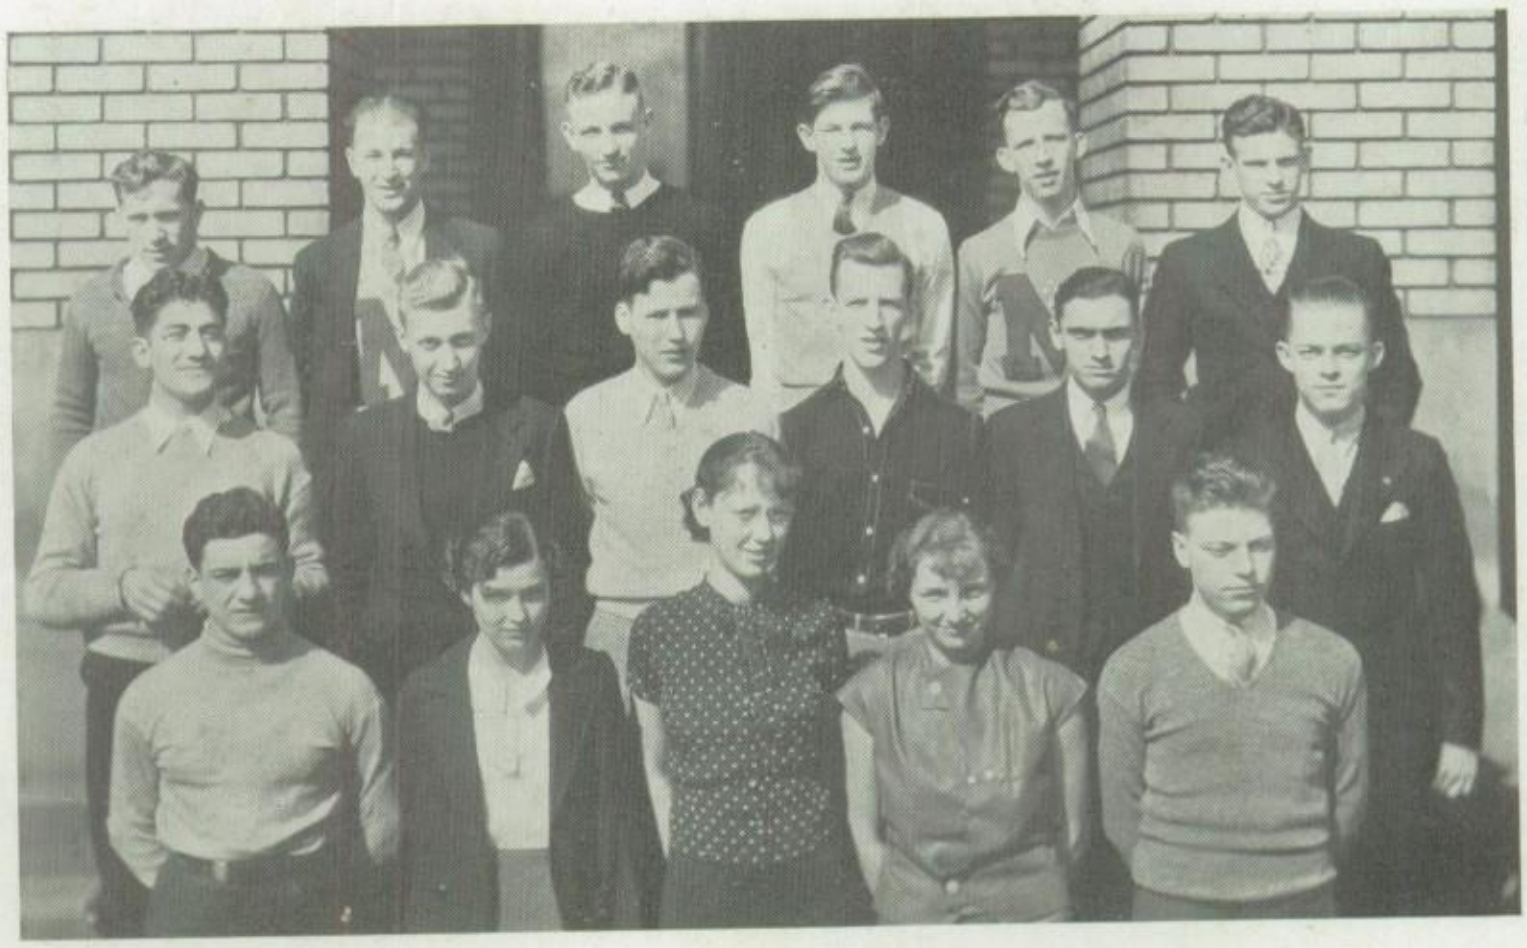
PLANNING the decorations for the three senior parties as well as doing the decorating was the task of the senior decorating committee. This group also made the large supply of flowers that was required for the senior class play.

Cornstalks and pumpkins were the predominating decorations at the first party of the year, the Hallowe'en Hop, which was held in November. At the "Valentine Frolics", the second party, the decorations were carried out in the spirit of St. Valentine's Day with hearts of all sizes used extensively about the music room. The most elaborate decorations were at the "Carnival" which was held in April.

At this party the music room was converted into the atmosphere of a carnival by using various colored pennants, colored lights, and banners of side show freaks.

The officers of the committee were: Howard Satow, president; Erma Whitacre, vice president; Earl Bendroth, secretary; and Howard Meek, treasurer. Miss Ruff had charge of the committee.

The work of securing suitable graduation announcements for the class to vote on was done by the announcement committee. This committee was composed of Donna Cramer, Harold Fair, Betty Shanafelt, Dorothy Stockdale, and William Riemenschneider. They had charge of the election of the announcement and also planned the wording used on it.



First Row—Armogida, Brush, Coleman, Ritzman, Canterbury. Second Row—George, Luckring, Fair, Satow, Purece, Bendroth, Third Row—Wilgus, Glick, Hammond, Clapper, Satow, Stenger.

ENTERTAINMENT AND PROGRAM COMMITTEE

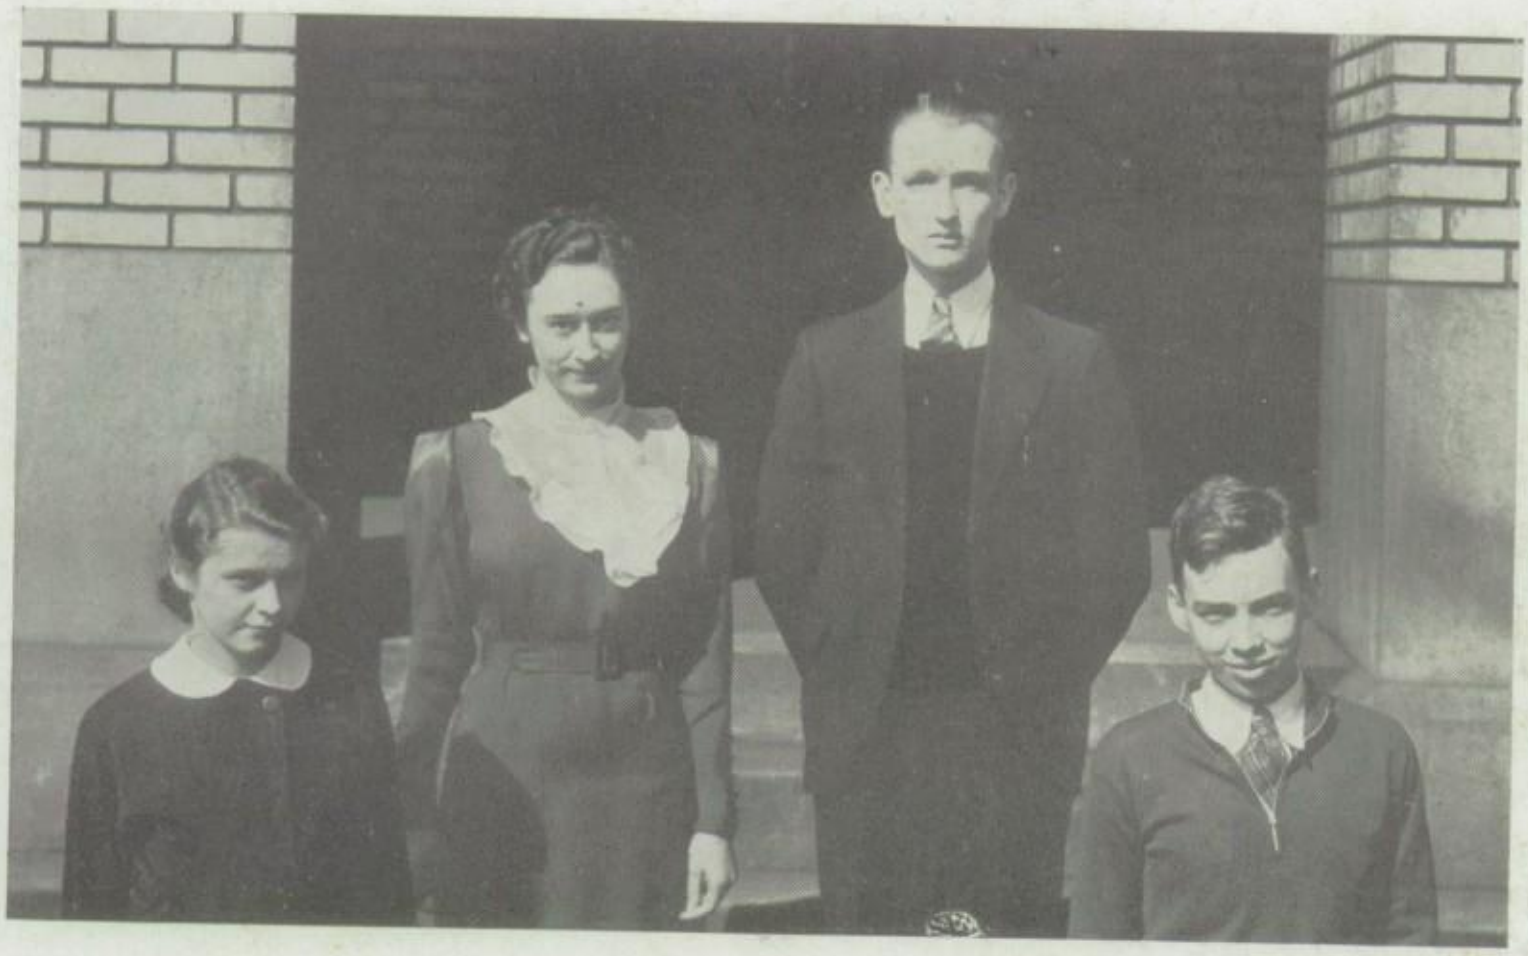
ENTERTAINMENT for the senior parties was original and quite appropriate this year. Each party had a definite theme and the entertainment followed the theme.

The committee that had charge of the entertainment had a certain amount of money to spend for entertainment. This had to be used very wisely and went for programs, orchestras, professional entertainment, favors and costumes.

The first party, the Hallowe'en Hop, featured startling prophecies by a Hindu, Professor Know all, Sees All, a shadow-graph, "The Cremation of Sam McGee" and fortune telling by three witches sitting around a boiling cauldron.

The entertainment for the St. Valentines party was of a much more cheerful nature. A ridiculous play "The Wedding of Long and Short" was given by sixteen of the huskiest males of the class. Music by a McKinley violinist and another play showing Valentine's Day in 1734 and 1934 were other features of the program.

The third party was a carnival, we can almost guess the type of entertainment to expect, freaks, snake-charmers and general merry-making. Some of the unusual sights were Siamese twins, a bearded lady and an enormous fat lady. This was claimed by many to be the best party the class of '34 ever had. The committee was advised and helped by Miss Hill.



Johnston, Bender, Cordray, Ray

REFRESHMENT COMMITTEE

REFRESHMENTS mean a great deal to any social affair especially at a party. The senior class realized this and organized a special committee to plan the refreshments and then carry out their ideas.

Since the expenses of the social affairs came out of class dues, economy had to be considered all the time. Refreshments which were inexpensive and yet desirable and which would fit in with the theme of the party were the problems of this committee.

At the first party, a Hallowe'en Hop, it was natural that cider and doughnuts be served. At the second party, in February the lunch was more elaborate than it had ever been before. There was ice cream, heart shaped cookies and heart candies to fit in with St. Valentine's day. The last regular party was a carnival. At this one popcorn, peanuts, and soft drinks were served.

The refreshment committee also planned the lunch for class night. The junior class took charge of the reception. The serving at the social affairs was done by members of the junior class.

The students who took charge of this part of social activities were Mary Bender, Jean Ann Johnston, Robert Cordray, and Robert Bryden. Miss Mason was the faculty advisor of the committee.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

JUNIOR council is a representative body composed of 41 members who are elected by their respective home room groups. This council serves as a contact between the class officers and the class members. To be a councilman, a student must maintain passing grades in all subjects and be in good standing in the class.

All policies of the class are voted upon at council meetings. The councilmen are responsible for the collection of the class dues, distribution of party tickets, and presentation of bulletins from the officers to members of their home rooms. The councilmen gather the opinions of their own groups, the original ideas which are submitted, and ideas for party plans and carry them to the council meetings. All procedure at these meetings are conducted according to the regular parliamentary rules.

The council has much to do with the government of its class. It helped in the election of class officers early in the year. Councilmen are required to attend meetings of the council whenever they may be called.

Mr. Riley is the chairman of the class guardians. He is assisted by Mr. Carter, Miss Broda, Miss Erdman, Mr. Ford, Mr. Fry, Mr. Gowdy, Mr. Littell, Miss Marburger, Mr. Peabody, Miss Rice, Miss C. Schneider, Mr. C. C. Smith, and Mr. Wright.

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL

EARLY in September each Sophomore home room selected a student capable of representing one of the most important organizations of the class, the student council. An alternate was also chosen to assist his councilman in attending and discussing council meetings to his home room.

The duties of these students were to collect class dues, give out party tickets, and give the opinions of his home room at the meetings.

Members of the council supervised the election of class officers who were: Fred Crewse, president; Mary Girard, vice-president; Jane Hawk, secretary; Gerald Crawford, treasurer.

The various committees planned and made arrangements for the two delightful class parties. The first was a Christmas party, at which time a play under the direction of Miss Hill was presented by the Sophomore Dramatic club. Dancing in the music room was an attraction for all. The second was a May party which carried out the idea of Spring in the program and decorations.

The Sophomore Dramatic club gave a play at this party also.

The guardians of which Mr. Deetz was chairman, have guided the Sophomore class through a most successful year at McKinley. The other guardians were: Miss Galbreath, Miss Gruber, Miss Mack, Miss Ruff, Miss Shaver, Miss Stonehill, Miss Roller, Mr. Brooker, Mr. Bixler, Mr. Cherry, Mr. Goss, Mr. Warren, and Mr. Vance.

ORCHESTRA

OUTSTANDING has been the work of the McKinley High school symphony this year. Under the direction of Mr. Ellmore Miller, the group has presented a repetoire which included an array of the highest type of symphonic numbers. These numbers were given at a series of two concerts held in the school auditorium.

The first concert was given on March 9, and featured Raymond Schweitzer, cellist, and Jeanne Spielman, violinist, as soloists. The program included such works as the famous "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert, "Ruy Blas Overture" by Mendelssohn, and the charming "Ballet Music" from "Faust", by Gounod.

The second concert was given early in May. Helen Louise Schmidt was presented in a violin solo and a program of the following numbers was given: "G Minor Symphony" by Mozart, "L'Arlesienne Suite 1" by Bizet, "Overture Die Fledermaus" by Strauss, and Delibea's "Ballet Sylvia Suite". A novel arrangement of the "Volga Boatman" was also given.

The orchestra also assisted in the production of "Bohemian Girl" by Balfe, which was presented by the Senior Choral club. Music was furnished for the junior and senior class plays.

Individual members attained honorable mention in a string quartet and a trip to the all state high school orchestral convention was made by members where three from McKinley were awarded coveted positions.

Although composed of 60 members, their united response and capacity for uniform training did honor to the painstaking efforts of their instructor, Mr. Ellmore Miller.

CHORAL CLUB

INDIVIDUAL voice tests, given by Mr. Leslie D. Hanson were used as the basis of the selection of the 122 senior students who became members of the Choral club. The number selected this year was the largest ever to represent McKinley in choral work.

The first appearance was made at the Canton Kiwanis club in the latter half of October. The second appearance was before the senior and junior classes at the Thanksgiving assemblies. Christmas time proved to be a busy season for the club, for they again sang before the Kiwanis club, participated in the community singing and caroled through the halls of the school. The compositions sung during these programs were from the pens of such noted composers as Dudley Buck, John Bach, Constantin Schedore, and G. A. MacFarren.

This year, the club presented the "Bohemian Girl" by Michael Balfe as its opera. The principal roles of the opera were taken by Leo Ubick as Count Arnheim; John McElvy as Thaddeus; Don Spidell as Florestein; Stewart Witham as Devilshoof; Helen Louise Schmidt as Arlene; Elizabeth Blemker as the gypsy queen; and Jessie Brenet as Buda. Margaret Appell directed the dances.

The Choral club presented a program at the Northeastern Ohio Choral convention which was held at Akron, Ohio. This program was made up of spirituals, religious compositions, and a Russian chant.

CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

11 Rain all day—nice way to begin a new school year.

12 Sophs get lost in spite of efforts of Girls' Service League to furnish guides to direct them.

13 Senior girl goes the whole way around third floor trying to direct a new girl to room 325.

14 Office still having plenty of trouble getting those schedules fixed up. Sophomores listen to alumni tell them how important they may become if they live long enough.

15 End of first week—oh, for those good old first weeks, when we had Labor day off at the beginning and Fair day off at the end.

16 Saturday morning and a chance to sleep. The afternoon brought the first sight of those new football uniforms.

17 More sleep.

18 Sophs still a little bit lost, but able to make most classes not more than ten minutes late.

19 Bixler gets mistaken for a pupil and ordered around. How about having our teachers labelled?

20 Our first tests of the year. We hadn't expected them yet.

21 We hope those test grades are not a forecast of our year's woes.

22 Sophs and juniors try to see who can make the more noise—cheer leader tryouts in order.

23 Hi-Y steak fry—nice time was had by all, also nice steaks. McKinley takes over Akron Central. Some of those sophomores certainly know their way around on the football field.

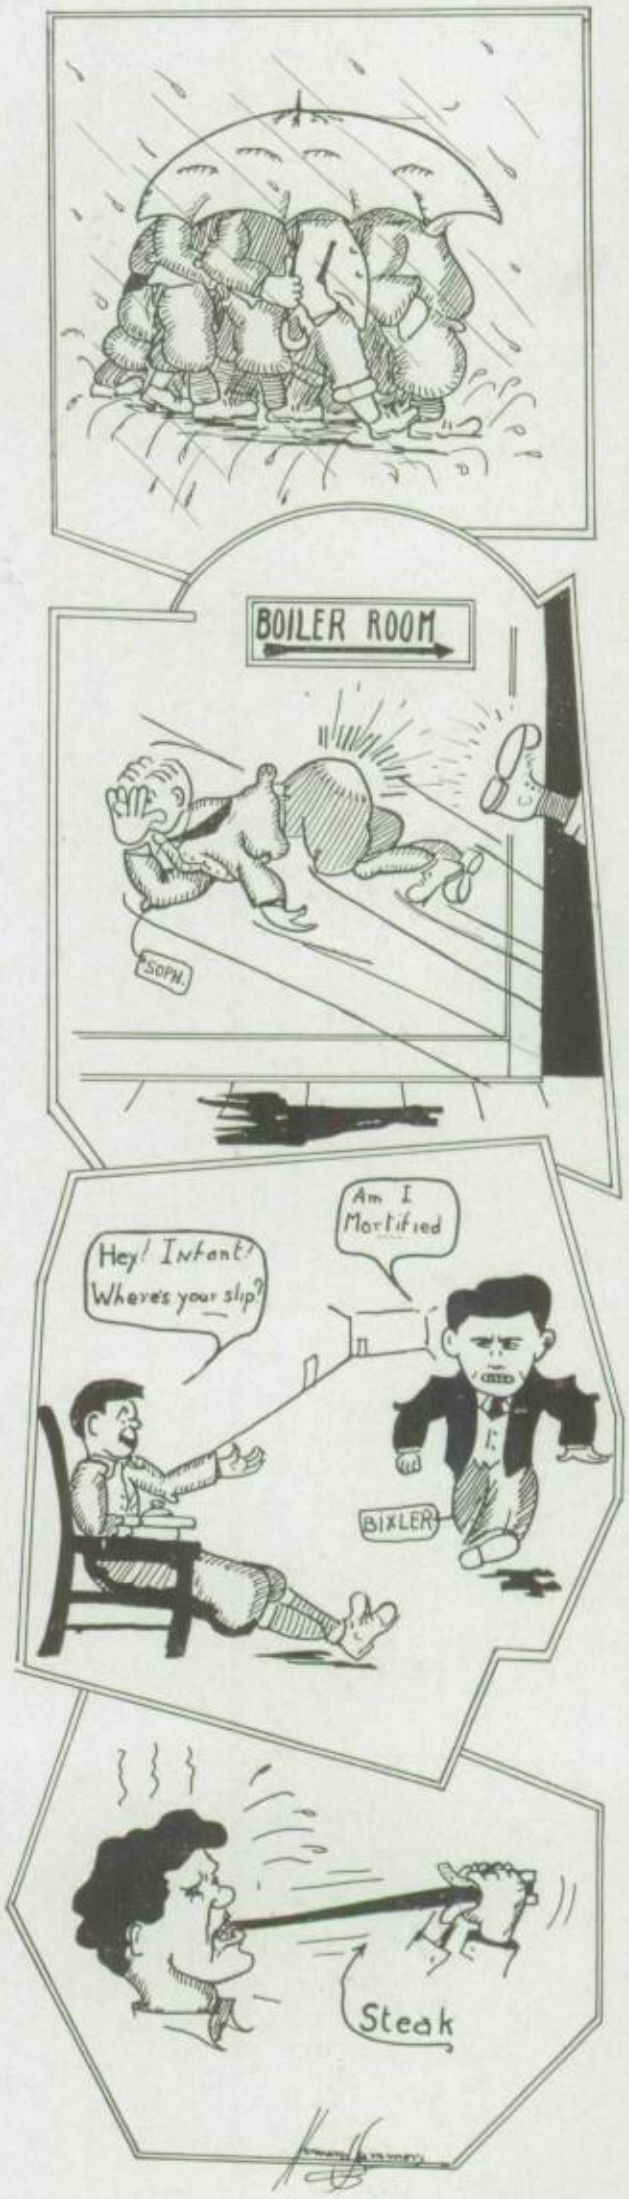
25 Miss Haverstack meets the actors and actresses of the senior class. "Get a Gal" party given by junior girls who have been in McKinley for the new girls from Lehman.

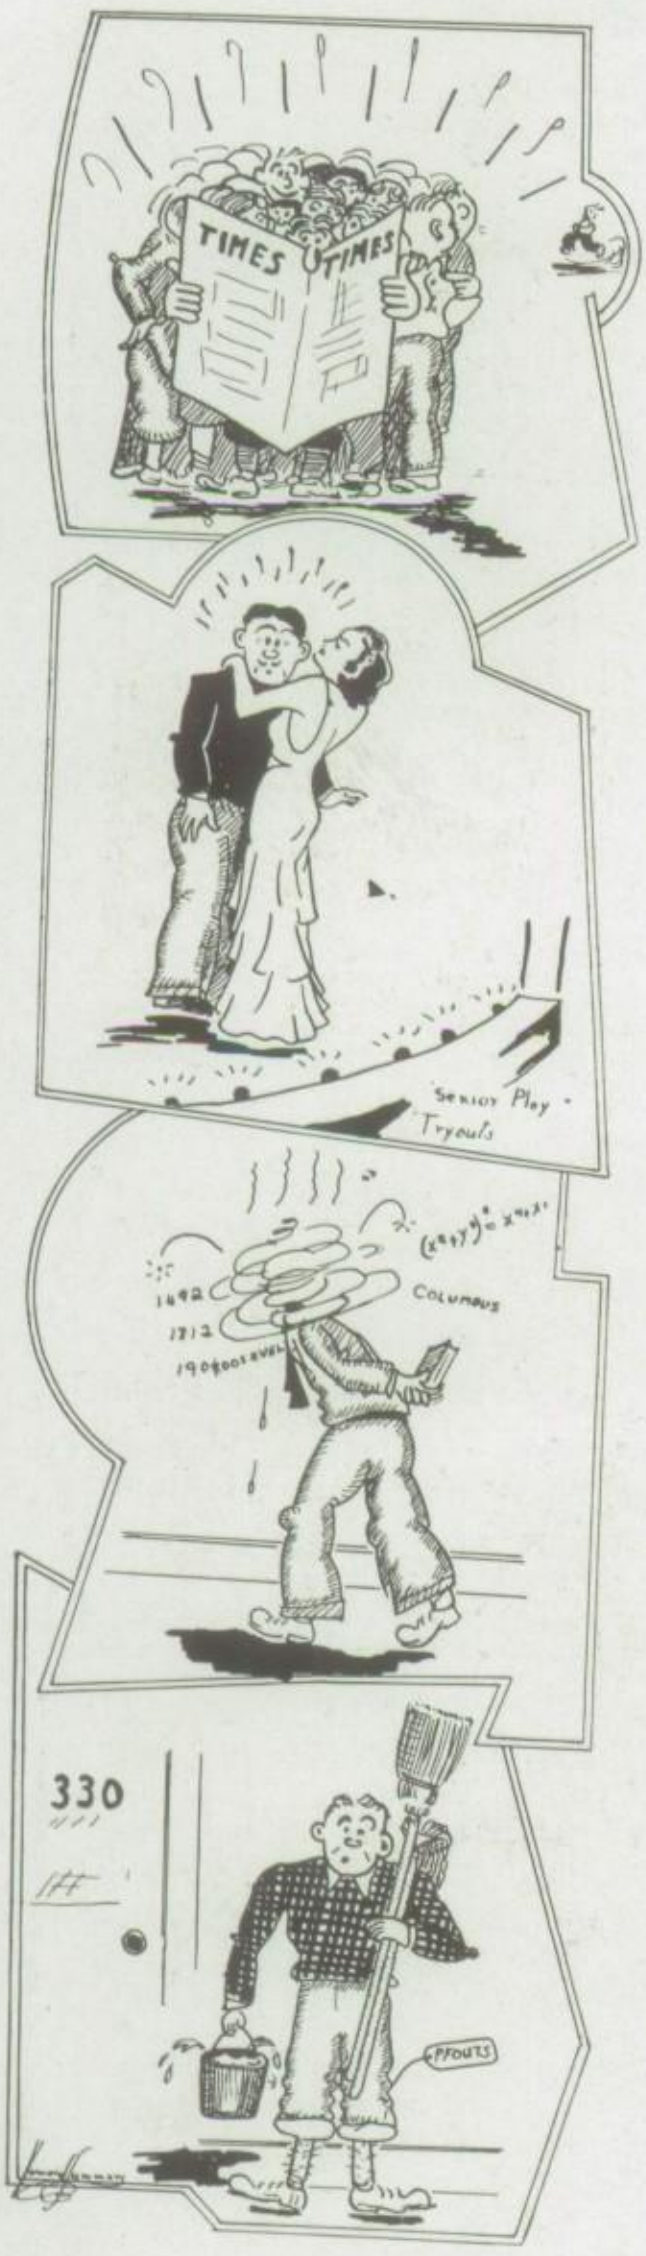
26 Times' assembly—Andy Canterbury gives his reasons for urging every one to subscribe to the Times.

27 Another Times' assembly—Andrew Canterbury ditto. Girls begin hockey practice. Plenty of need for liniment.

28 Another Times' assembly—Andy has changed his story.

29 McKinley 67—Akron South 7. Not such a poor score —for McKinley.





CALENDAR

OCTOBER

2 Sunday night. Students trying frantically to make up work for Monday, at the last minute. Why, oh, why, do we put things off?

3 Kryl concert, both afternoon and evening. Students have a chance to get out of school early.

4 Detention is full. It seems that some people got out early and didn't find their ways to the concert. Pretty late in the year to get lost!

5 "Times" out for the first time. Congratulations, Lou.

6 Last year's members of Leaders club give demonstration for the prospective members.

7 Another victory on the gridiron. McKinley 40—Rayen 0.

9 Senior play tryouts furnish amusement for the rest of the school.

10 More amusement via more tryouts.

11 Leaders have wiener frazzle, so they said, but we understand that all of them didn't like wieners. Also that some ate too many.

12 Columbus day! Why shouldn't we honor the discoverer of a holiday?

13 Can it be possible that we are having our first six week's tests? Something more to worry about!

14 McKinley 42—Pittsburgh Peabody 0. At least we all know that the Pittsburgh boys had setting up exercises. Boosters display skill in stunt.

16 Everybody in good humor. Few demerits given.

17 Seniors pick officers. (Pfouts of 330 elected janitor, and assumes his duties immediately.) Friendship club hold get-together party.

18 Announcement made that James Strauch, Nancy Riley, Marvel Whiteleather, and Tom Shipley are to lead senior class as officers.

19 Dick Miller, Betty Mizer, Maxine Perdue, and Fritz Meyers declared winners in junior elections. (Bright senior congratulates the wrong Dick Miller.

20 Girls take tumbles—begin tumbling practice in gym. Sophs show histrionic ability in Sophomore Dramatic club tryouts.

21 Columbus Aquinas goes down before McKinley. Frye makes touchdown on first play.

25 Debate club closes drive for 1933-34.

26 Football heroes excused from home room period. Oh that we all had a good excuse to get out during that period.

27 Hooray! We send our teachers to Cleveland and get a holiday.

28 Varsity avenges last year's defeat by soundly thrashing East Liverpool. Three East Liverpool men picked up after each play.

30 Some of our playful students try their luck at throwing eggs. Some of the eggs hadn't been cooked. Ask Eddie Armogida.

CALENDAR

NOVEMBER

2 Sophomores hold rally before Steubenville game. Miss Motschman hunts a good girls' orchestra. Football men get first practice in snow.

3 Juniors and seniors urge football men to take Steubenville on the morrow. Reserve players defeat St. Johns' at Lakeside.

4 They did. McKinley 7—Steubenville 0. But lots of hearts almost jumped out when the Stubbers tried that last minute pass.

6 Dick Miller's duties as class president must be strenous. He went to sleep in study hall. That's one way to get attention.

7 Two assemblies in one day. We all promise to be good and mean it.

8, 9, Armistice day assemblies. Faculty men who served in armed forces talk to students.
Juniors hold attractive Armistice day party in music room.

10 Sophomores elect Fred Crewse, Mary Girard, Jane Hawk, and Gerald Crawford as class officers.

11 Armistice day. Springfield runs one perfect play and mars our season. Seven thousand fans sit in pouring rain and get soaked.

13 Juniors hunt articles lost at party.

14 Third floor turned into art gallery. Scholastic magazine display attracts many. Students have chance to get out of home rooms during home room period.

15 Pictures continue to be viewed by twos.

17 Boosters hold successful "Century of Progress" party. Sally Rand is removed from music room by policeman.

18 McKinley 12—Alliance 0. First win over eastern city in five years.

20 Miss Bair bets Ann Pratt a box of candy that she won't have the sayings for the senior section of annual finished by first of year.

21 Students trying to find out secret of this week's Times. Who says that boys aren't curious?

22 The secret is out! Aren't those baby pictures of the big football heroes cute?

24 Last rally before the Massillon game. Everyone is pepped up.

25 McKinley 25—Massillon 0. Some score! And the score doesn't begin to tell how McKinley's front wall held and how the backfield ran.

27 Big pep rally held at city auditorium in honor of our victorious football team. Frigley chosen captain for next year's team. We hated to miss our eighth and ninth period classes.

DECEMBER

1 More turkey! Still eating left overs.

2 Few demerits. Everyone resting from Thanksgiving holiday.

3 Teachers have weekly discipline meeting. Wonder what goes on behind those closed doors? Only those who are too concerned to get any fun out of it get to know.

5 Basketball players excused from room and ninth period study halls. No luck for the regular students.!

6 Report cards go out for the second time this year. We hope our parents are feeling well. They need to.

7 Taste of class play given at assembly.

8 "Royal Family" produced by members of the senior class. Another achievement. Box of candy offered for largest home room sales of Christmas seals goes to A 13, 305, Miss Wenrick's home room.

9 Second night's performance of play given before large audience. Robert Bryden has a heavy part. It seems that the monkey took a fancy to him.

11 Choral club sings carols around the Christmas tree at square. We are beginning to feel as though Christmas is near.

12 Girls' gym classes start practice for basketball.

13 Ann Pratt wins that box of candy by getting her sayings in early.

14 Football heroes get another feed — this time at the expense of the Repository.

15 McKinley wins first basketball game of season. Halter appointed captain.

16 Sophomores hold first class party. They find out how many nice people there are in their class. They have a large turnout.

18 Service League imparts cheer to the old ladies at the Aultman home.

20 Leaders hold initiation. New members easily recognized by queer headdresses and their willingness to obey their superiors.

21 Times celebrates holidays by putting out paper printed in green ink. Alumni begin to come back to visit McKinley halls.

22 Christmas vacation begins. Also a round of social activities start. There are scarcely enough days to accomodate all the parties and dances.

30 Basketball team wins from Springfield 30-26. That helps to ease our feelings over the football defeat. (We wonder if the members of the basketball squad are keeping in training with all the parties going on.)

CALENDAR

JANUARY

5 McKinley wins basketball game from Akron Central.

6 McKinley duplicates with Akron East at Akron, although not with as much ease.

7 All students sleep late, for it is their last chance. School begins again tomorrow.

8 Back again. Debate team celebrates with a victory over Barnesville.

9 Juniors to have a chance to show their histrionic ability in play tryouts. Everyone playing basketball. Both boys' and girls' intramural teams swing into action.

10 Seniors have turned in so many pictures for McKinleyite that it can't help be good looking.

11 Students hear first sound pictures in the auditorium. "A Gift of Montezuma" used to test out room.

12 We win from Alliance.

13 Youngstown Chaney is not hard to take over, either.

16 Class members are urged to pay dues.

17 Mr. Gilmore, former art teacher at McKinley, talks to Art League about his painting trips and shows his paintings.

19 Page a toe dancer. And now the swimmers are excused at end of the fourth period.

21 Coach Aiken takes Wilson Frye, quarterback selection on the all state team, and Allen, second team selection, to Columbus for a banquet.

22 Frye can't take it. He sleeps in.

23 Students pray for exemptions. Much speculation on the goodness of the hearts of the many teachers.

24 Exams! One day gone.

25 More exams! We wish we had studied during the semester. More resolutions than at the beginning of the year.

26 Holiday, except for those who have conflicts. Swimming team licks Lakewood. The next to impossible has been accomplished. Akron South defeated 33-19.

27 McKinley 32—Cleveland 13.

28 For once we don't have to study on Sunday. No lessons assigned between semesters.

29 New semester! New schedules! New start! And are we going to study. Hall guards not on duty. That gives some of our hall gypsies a chance.

30 Talkies finally installed.

31 Report cards go out. We are sure now that we are going to study more. Doubtful seniors begin to collect their eighth credits to remain in senior sections.

CALENDAR

FEBRUARY

1 Another senior crashes piller in rotundo of third floor. It must have been the red grades—or maybe a blond.

2 Groundhog day. We hope we don't get any more cold weather. McKinley takes its first defeat at the hands of Rayen of Youngstown.

3 Decorating committee for next senior party begins work (and their fun) for it.

4 Assemblies to advertise the opera. Members of cast selling tickets.

7 Announcement made of coming forensic tryouts.

9 "Bohemian Girl" presented. McKinley defeats Alliance. Bitter cold and no busses. Some walk. Many absent. Mermen drive through cold to Sandusky for a meet.

10 Second night of opera. We don't wonder that the little Arlene was afraid of Stew Witham. That was a wicked mustachio he displayed.

12 Lincoln's birthday and here we are at school. Also third week of new semester staring us in the face and most of us don't even remember whether we made any resolutions to study. Juniors show their abilities as future stage celebrities.

13 French students hold Mardi Gras dinner at Y. W. C. A. Lucky for some that eating is the same in any language.

14 Pupils to be admitted to lunch period movies for a penny a day. Famous picture "Dirigible" starts.

15 Seniors begin to sell annuals. Better run, or they'll take your money from you. According to them every one in school should beg, borrow, or (I'll fool you) save the necessary amount.

16 McKinley varsity and reserves play Massillon there. Lucky for us that we can look back on the win of the reserves.

17 Spring is far away from the feel of the weather. But have you noticed that students are walking the halls in pairs. Publication staffs get pins for their services.

20 Faculty tea. at Y. W. C. A. All the teachers dressed up for the event. (Women teachers, of course). Beatrice Keys and Jean Klingstedt named captains for the Harvard and Yale teams, respectively.

21 Seniors have another successful party. In the middle of the week, too. Mirabile dictu. Printing department exhibits art calendars.

22 Washington's birthday. At last we have a great man whose birthday does us some good. No school .

23 Why couldn't we have had Friday also to celebrate said birthday. Dover team pays its respects to our Bulldogs.

24 Juniors have a "Show Boat Review" as their second party. Lots of original ideas, and talent displayed by said juniors. Exodus of students to Wooster for its "open house".

26 Senior boys win intramural basketball championship. Players on Yale-Harvard teams announced. Lucky girls!

27, 28, 29 Sophomores, juniors, and seniors hear Andy Canterbury take off former speakers and tell about the merits of the 1934 McKinleyite, and the reasons because of which each student should have one.

MARCH

3 McKinley loses to Akron St. Vincent's in the first game of the tournament. There goes all our hopes of getting to Columbus. Lucky seniors get letters telling them they have made National Honor Society.

5 Committee of six students get ready for safety program for the radio. In case you saw them gesticulating in the halls, that was the reason. They are all right.

6 Announcement made that spring vacation is to last from March 26 to 30, inclusive.

7 More six weeks' tests. They come too often. Maybe we should have kept our resolutions.

9 Sophomores hear program given by music department. Others have to go to regular classes. Orchestra concert given at night.

12 Juniors and sophomores get ready to sign up for their courses for next year.

14 Reports go out for six weeks' period. Two thirds of year gone.

15 Girls play Yale-Harvard game. Yale wins by one point after an exciting game.

17 Swimmers take first place in University of Pittsburgh interstate meet, thus successfully defending the title which they won last year.

18 Students all dressed up for McKinleyite pictures which the weather man is preventing.

20 Weather is better and pictures are run off. Remarkable how long it takes some people to get back to classes after pictures are taken. Some missed pictures, too, they were so slow.
Debate teams slipt even with Erie East.

21 Still bad weather. No more pictures.

23 Junior and seniors hear Ted Robinson of the Cleveland Plain Dealer tell them he doesn't believe in home work. The belief was unanimous with the students, too. Spring vacation begins.

26 Press club goes to Cleveland to see how the "funnies" are made.

27 Did we say vacation? How many windows did you wash?

CALENDAR

APRIL

2 School reconvenes. Club members look pretty for their pictures.

3 Interesting speaker on safety at sophomore assembly. Seven pupils go to sleep in study hall.

4 Girls sign up for tennis tournament. Rain pours at 8 a. m.

5 These track men seem to be having a difficult time getting about since practice has started in earnest.

6 Seniors go to carnival—pink lemonade, side shows, 'n everything. Wasn't the barker funny?

9 White flannels and white shoes seem to be the rage.

10 Sophomores witness seniors being inducted into National Honor Society. It won't be long, sophomores, until you'll be the ones so honored.

11 Final pictures taken for McKinleyite.

12 Forensic tournament begins at Kent. Fourteen McKinleyites make the trip.

13 Friday 13! How many accidents have you had? Girls aren't afraid for Friendship club holds a dance.

14 Hi-Y hold dance at Brookside.

16 Annual staff feels lost. All the material is at the printer's. Nothing to do but wait.

17 Latin class entertains stray dog. How do so many get into school?

18 Many juniors look wan—going without lunch to pay class play fines.

19 Ah! We get excused from school for exhibition practice.

20 Gym exhibition.

23 Juniors show their art in Massillon.

24 Have you bought your ticket for junior play! Juniors are busy trying to earn those awards.

25 Juniors have play rehearsal, and six weeks' tests.

27 "The Fool" presented by class of '35. McKinley is going to have lots of talent for next year.

28 Second night of class play. Track meet in the afternoon.

CALENDAR

MAY—JUNE

1 Oh boy! Looks like spring is with us to stay.

2 Our parents get chance to see our cards for last time before final reckoning.

3 Thank heavens, it is at last too hot for Shipley's black flannel shirt.

4 Sophomores hold final party of the year. District meets in track, baseball, golf, and tennis. Come on, McKinley!

5 More of the same meets.

7 Four juniors die of impatience. Will school never close?

8 Red Halter is seen in the back seat of his car, asleep.

9 Mary Alice Stevens gets up with the sun to play tennis, and then sleeps through study hall.

10 Jim Strauch came to school with two black eyes. It seems he attempted a soap box oration at Hi-Y council meeting.

11 Last chances for McKinley athletes to go to state meet.

12 New marcels and lots of new clothes! Juniors out do all other classes in honoring outgoing seniors at reception. More meets in track, baseball, golf, and tennis.

14 Howard Wertman still denies that he has a girl. Stubborn, eh what?

28 Beginning of senior examinations.

30 Decoration day. A holiday, but so near the end that it can't be appreciated.

31 A few seniors worried about results of exams.

June 1 Class night. The last big get-together for the seniors.

3 Baccalaureate.

6 Commencement. The last time the seniors meet as students of McKinley.

The PINCHPENNYS
Rally Round the Lamp

Behold the "Pinch Pennys" all set for another enjoyable evening at home. Rallying round the lamp is their idea of a good game.

As usual the "Pinch Pennys" are penny-wise but light foolish. They don't know that the whole family could enjoy comfortable light for a very few cents an evening.

To do a job well is one thing—to do it quickly is another. To do both is an accomplishment.

Our part is to handle type with taste, but never to forget that advertising must sell goods.

Our part is to follow instructions, but never to over-look an opportunity to make a job look better.

Our part is to keep our promises to deliver your work on time, but never to sacrifice quality for speed.
